Subject: Last few hrs: OSHA's final rule on tracking of workplace injuries and illnesses

Good morning,

The electronic rule called "Improve Tracking of Workplace Injuries and Illness" was finalized by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration on May 11, 2016. The final rule is identical to the proposed rule and has two main elements, electronic submission and updates to how employers inform employees to report work-related illness or injuries. The final rule comprises of two effective dates. The more recent effective date being August 10, 2016 for the provisions concerning employee injury reporting policies. Especially, the requirements notify employees that they have a right to report a work-related injury and the prohibition from discharging or otherwise discriminating against employees for reporting work-related injuries or illnesses. The requirements relating to the electronic submission of Part 1904 recordkeeping forms become effective January 1, 2017.

Join us for this Live Webinar- "What the New OSHA Tracking Rules Mean to Your Organization", on Thu, June 16, 2016 at 12.30 pm ET. In this session our expert speaker Susan Fahey Desmond, will cover these new requirements and what it means to your organization, how it will impact you, and how to ensure compliance.

Credits: Approved for 1.5 credits by HRCI and Pre-Approved for 1.5 PDC through SHRM

Session highlights:

- What does the final rule do?
- Why is OSHA collecting the data and how will it be used?
- New OSHA authority to address retaliation claims
- Procedures that OSHA considers to be deterring or discouraging employees from reporting work-related injuries
- How OSHA will be viewing post-accident drug testing
- How OSHA will be viewing employee incentive programs
- The application of the final rule to State Plan states
- Who must submit information electronically to OSHA
- And more!!!

Dear Buddy

It has been many years since our days at Theta Delta Chi at Brown.

Your leadership during the post-Pulse shooting tragedy has been exemplar.

The incident itself was horrific and destructive to your citizens and your community. My family expresses our deepest sympathies to the families and the friends of the innocent victims.

Your ability to clearly communicate at press conferences, to help in the grieving process for the local community and all American, and to carry such a wonderful smile and positive attitude moving forward shows all the great aspects of our country. We are grieving and in a state of shock trying to understand what happened and why it happened. But Orlando and the entire country can come together to support each other.

I just made a $500 contribution to the One Orlando Fund and hope it provides support to strengthen the Orlando community.

Hope somehow there are inspirational benefits that can emerge from the tragedy.

Thank you for all that you continue to do for your citizens as they really need you man!

All the best and ITB,

Call to Action Roundtable!

In light of the unfortunate tragedies that have taken place in Orlando, FL in recent days and the tragedy that took place one year ago with the Emanuel 9 in Charleston, SC today; the Central Florida community is invited to a public roundtable meeting on gun violence this Saturday. The "call to action" is appealing to all who understand that the time is ripe in the struggle to be heard on the Public Safety Law issues, that no hesitation should cause us to lose this crucial window of opportunity to forcefully speak as the world watches our every action.

Gun violence affects us ALL. Unifying the many communities affected by gun violence, whether it be mass shootings or everyday gun violence, is the best way to make sure our voices are heard in Tallahassee, FL and Washington DC. There has been no other time in recent history that this is more appropriate to communicate our concerns as well as our varied agendas. For that reason and others a Call to Action Roundtable is scheduled for Saturday, June 18th at 1:00 PM uniting diverse communities.

Please Join Us

All Impacted and Interested Organizations are Welcome!!!!

We all must Take Action is NOW. This is a Public Safety Issue.

National Action Network Central Florida Chapter Statement On Orlando Nightclub Mass Shooting

ORLANDO, FL – Greetings, I was awakened to hear about another shooting in Orlando, FL this morning. First, to all the families and victims I offer my prayers and sincere condolences for your loss. I have just learned that this shooting is the worst mass shooting in history of United States of America; this sadly hurt me to my core. I am sad to report that 49 people are confirmed dead and 53 injured from the mass shooting at the popular nightclub Pulse. Gun Violence is spiraling out of control and it's time for all of us to make difference.

Take action is NOW. Guns kill people. This is a Public Safety Issue.

Floridians we must lead to way NOW to get Gun Legislation to protect our Families and Friends.

Please call your Florida Representative and State Senator. Demand that they implement expanded background checks and extensive REQUIRED safety training for all permit holders. We must all be responsible and take action for the safety of our citizens.

We Must Take Action!!

Sincerely,

Lawanna Gelzer,
President

After filibuster, Senate agrees to vote on key gun control issues

It took nearly 15 hours, but Senate Democrats won a couple of key concessions early Thursday morning as Senate Republican leaders said they would allow votes on two measures related to background checks for purchasing guns.

U.S. Sen. Chris Murphy made the announcement as he wrapped up a 14-hour, 50-minute filibuster on the appropriations bill for the Justice and Commerce departments. In all, Murphy received help from 43 of his Democratic colleagues as he sought to bring votes on both universal background checks and closing the so-called "terror gap" that enables individuals on the country's suspected terrorist list to legally purchase weapons. The U.S. Marine Corps (USMC), as part of the Consolidated Emergency Response System (CERS) program, will deploy Intergraph® Computer-Aided Dispatch (I/CAD) software across 13 USMC bases throughout the world. With the support of Intergraph Government Solutions (IGS) and the Marine Corps Systems Command (MCSC), the CERS program office received a combined Milestone C and Full Deployment Decision approval for the software, a key step in the Department of Defense's acquisition process that enables the program to move forward with full system deployment.

Working with the MCSC team, approval was based on rigorous testing and engineering and the live operation of I/CAD at Marine Corps Air Station (MCAS) Cherry Point in North Carolina. Developed by IGS' parent company, Hexagon Safety & Infrastructure, I/CAD was required to meet the stringent Risk Management Framework cybersecurity requirements of the Important Updates from the Board of Directors

A Message from the Board Chair

Dear Board Members, Stakeholders, Partners, and Friends of the African American Chamber of Commerce of Central Florida:

It is with sincere regret that I announce Tony Coley and Ron Oats have tendered their resignations from the AACCCF Board of Directors to pursue new leadership positions. Both men have demonstrated a commitment to excellence and have served as strong advocates for our organization and will be missed.

Tony Coley

Tony Coley has been promoted to Regional President of South Florida for BB&T Bank, succeeding the current president who is retiring after 42 years. Born and raised in Miami-Dade County, Tony is a former Academic All-American starting linebacker with the University of Miami. He has over 20 years of experience in banking, and joined BB&T in 2009 as Market President of Broward County. In 2012, he moved to Orlando to serve as Regional President of the Central Florida area. During his tenure, the region was recognized as among the Top Five with the company President's Award. Tony served as Treasurer for the Chamber for the past seven months.

Ron Oats is the new Southern Region Director and Chief Diversity Officer for the Boy Scouts of America. In his new role based in Irving, Texas, Ron will be involved in engagement with multicultural communities nationwide and sharing Scouting opportunities with parents and children. As a Scout Executive with the Central Florida Council for the past ten years, Ron was instrumental in launching a Hispanic Initiative Program and the development of the Hispanic Heritage Luncheon to recognize local leaders. He has a history of cultivating strong relationships across the Southern region in BSA leadership positions in Miami, West Palm Beach, and Atlanta, and served as an invaluable resource to the AACCCF Board of Directors for the past seven years as chair of the Membership Committee. Ron, and his wife, Eileen, who is an assistant principal in the Orange County Public Schools System have two adult children.

Ron Oates

Please join me in wishing Tony and Ron the best of luck in their new roles. I thank them for their contributions and leadership to our Chamber.

Nick Archer

I am also pleased to announce that Board Member Nick Archer has been promoted to Vice President of Finance at Florida Hospital. In his new role, Nick will provide executive financial leadership to Ambulatory and Post-Acute Care divisions. In the 12 years with Florida Hospital, Nick worked as a financial analyst on several project teams before holding finance leadership roles at the Apopka, Kissimmee, and Celebration Health campuses. He also spent three years leading strategy and market development at Celebration Health. Nick and his wife are the proud parents of two sons.

Please join me in congratulating Nick and welcoming him in his new role.

Signed,
John Beacham

Caregiver Thought Leader Interview: Matt Moulakelis • June 17, 2016

TODAY'S CAREGIVER

EDITOR'S PEN

Gary Barg, Editor-in-Chief

Caregiver Thought Leader Interview: Matt Moulakelis

Gary Barg: Matt, this is such an important topic because of all the things we have to pay attention to as family caregivers, nothing is more vexing than those 100-page bills you get from the hospitals and medical facilities. I mean, $60.00 for an aspirin? And in fact, you went through this with your dad with his near-fatal heart attack in 2013. What did you do?

Matt Moulakelis: I did go through this personally. It was 2013 and fortunately, I was at home and took my father to the hospital during his heart attack. Like you said, he did recover. What we found was that during this process, when we should be focused on his recovery and rehabilitation, we were focused on negotiating medical bills. We were trying to understand why someone who was employed and insured owed over $50,000.00 in debt to the hospital, and to multiple different providers. Fortunately for us, my mother's an administrator within a hospital that focuses on patient finance and insurance benefits. She was able to essentially bring that balance down to zero, just by identifying error and negotiating. That practice to me was mind-blowing. I couldn't believe that such monumental errors could really take place and it prompted us to start doing research into how big of a problem this is.

Gary Barg: How big of a problem is it?

Matt Moulakelis: Well, on the intentional side, there's an article in Time magazine called "Better Pill." It said that intentional fraud, intentional over-billing, is about a $270 billion a year business. And that unintentional, just accidental coding error, is responsible for 60-80 percent of error in all medical bills. So, a huge problem. Medical debt in itself is the number one cause of bankruptcy in the United States. It's over 50 percent of all collections. One in five Americans with insurance will have medical bills they can't pay this year, It's an epidemic really.

Gary Barg: So how do we get a handle on this?

Matt Moulakelis: The most important thing that we've identified is having a patient advocate. Someone who is experienced, that knows the system, knows how to navigate healthcare, has the time, can really hold your hand through the process and look out for you. Not for the insurance company, or the provider, but look out for you, and help you understand what you owe, to whom, for what. And just give you that peace of mind before you pay a bill, that, "Hey, this is accurate. Your insurance was applied." We think that the word "advocate" is extremely important.

Gary Barg: I think it is, too. And your organization that you started out of your personal experience, fits the framework of advocate. Tell me about Disputebills.com.

Matt Moulakelis: Sure. Disputebills.com is a national provider of patient billing advocacy services. Essentially, what we do as a billing advocate, is review all of the unpaid medical bills with our customers and for error, overcharges, and cost savings opportunities. We ensure that insurance was applied appropriately. Depending on what we find; we then advocate and negotiate on their behalf to lower costs. We're partners with the American Senior Association, which is second in size to the AARP.

Gary Barg: So, I'm a caregiver, I go to disputebills.com, what's the next step? What can I expect? How much can I expect to save? How's the process work?

Matt Moulakelis: By going to disputebills.com, you can sign up and create a case. We have a fully HIPPA compliant application, which we built for the caregiver and for the patient to have transparency into what we do. What this allows you to do is create a case and upload your medical bills, if you would like. You can still fax them and we provide prepaid postage. You connect with an advocate through the platform, someone that sits within our office. We don't outsource the function of bill review and advocacy. And you can manage your case, the most important thing is that you have visibility. The process takes less than two minutes. You can chat with your advocate in real-time. You can upload additional documents. You can ask questions. You can see the status of your case. You can see how much you were saved. It's really designed for the caregiver and for the patient. On average, with a legitimate active case, we're winning about 70 percent of the time, which an average reduction of just under 60 percent. There's a pretty favorable opportunity that we're going to find money for you to save. Again, those numbers just continue to increase.

Gary Barg: From what I understand, it doesn't cost anybody up-front as it's a contingency service.

Matt Moulakelis: That's correct, it's free to create a case. After we've reviewed all your bills and insurance, we'll let you know what we think can potentially be done, if you want to move forward. If we don't save you any money, you don't owe us anything. However, for caregivers, individuals with chronic illnesses and seniors, we are also offering a monthly subscription service. That essentially allocates and dedicates an advocate to you who will negotiate an unlimited amount of bills on a monthly basis without any type of recovery fee. So, it's an all-inclusive offering.

Gary Barg: Can you give me a case study of where you guys came to the rescue?

Matt Moulakelis: Sure. We had an individual from the Chicago area, she was actually a nurse. Her husband went to the emergency room by ambulance and they were a blue collar family. They were given bills for over $3,000.00 that they could not figure out. The fact that they owed that amount was preventing them from doing a renovation of their kitchen. After about four months of trying to figure out the process on their own, they reached out to us after seeing a Chicago Tribune article. Within the next month, we had identified a series of different billing errors, large in part due to the fact that insurance wasn't invoiced appropriately and hadn't paid their portion. We brought that bill down to zero, which gave that family the opportunity to renovate their kitchen and really impacted their life in a pretty substantial way in a very short period of time.

Gary Barg: Matt, the phrase "time is money" is never more important than with a family caregiver. We're stretched, we have so much to do and we look at this billing that comes in, we know it's wrong. We just don't have the time or even the skill to deal with this. Is that something you're hearing from family caregivers; that one of the values is how you save them time?

Matt Moulakelis: Constantly. Healthcare is complex by design. Without a very thorough understanding, this can make an already difficult job even more challenging. One of the biggest values that we provide in addition to saving people money, is peace of mind. We're on the front lines, really going to battle for you so that you don't have to spend hours on the phone, hours sorting through different bills and insurance documents. We're there for you, so you can focus on being a caregiver to your loved one, which is already a challenging job. We remove this portion of responsibility off your plate.

Gary Barg: What's the one most important piece of advice you want to share with the family caregiver?

Matt Moulakelis: As a caregiver, it is critical to ask questions about the bills you receive. Ask why they're as high as they are, ensure that insurance has the appropriate coverage. You need to be very, very thorough with billing, because we know that medical bills can really add up and cause major problems later. So, just be very thorough, push for transparency and if worst comes to worst, you know you always have an advocate that's available to you.

Subject: Pulse Orlando Memorial

Mayor Dyer,

I know you and your staff are busy, so I will keep this short. In response to the tragic events that happened at Pulse, a club I have frequented several times in my life, I purchased the domain www.pulseorlandomemorial.com this past Monday. I wanted to ensure it would be used for proper use and not purchased for non-memorial purposes. I am sure your staff has mentioned a possible memorial to the victims. A memorial at Lake Eola, the heart of Orlando, would be quite fitting.

This is the third time I have lived in Orlando. From a former Disney World cast member and Bank of America manager, I am now the President & CEO of Ohana Healthcare LLC with a new office in Orlando. I am Orlando. We are Orlando. I would be more than willing and interested to create a non-profit organization for the establishment of a permanent Pulse Orlando Memorial at Lake Eola.

I do not want to step on any else's toes. If a permanent memorial is already in the works by the city, then I would like to donate www.pulseorlandomemorial.com to the City of Orlando so it may be used for the memorial, or forward to the official memorial page.

Thank you for your time and hard work during the past few weeks....and over the next several weeks.

Subject: Donations for victims

The group that you have suggested to collect the donated funds is the wrong type of organization to be in charge of this. I speak from personal experience. My son was murdered in the theater shooting in Aurora, Colorado. The group the governor name to be in charge of donations for the victims had to be forced into giving money to the victims. They were giving money to other nonprofits in the area. While those may be good organizations, they couldn't help me at all, since I live in Illinois.

The victims of your mass shooting need you to help look out for their best interests right now. They are struggling physically and emotionally. This is low on their list of priorities right now. Once funeral expenses, medical bills, time off of work etc start piling up. they will be grateful that people donated money to them to spend as needed. They should not have to go, hat in hand, to your community organization to justify their needs.

Thank you for your kind words of support. Sunday was the most horrific day in the history of the City of Orlando. And yet, I am even more proud of our community because they came together, united to support the families and friends of the victims.

We learned of the heroic acts of our Orlando Police Department and other law enforcement, as well as our citizens as hundreds of lives were saved throughout the night. The medical personnel that saved so many lives that were transported to the hospital are heroes.

I am proud of how our City has responded to this tragedy and the dedication our City continues to show.

Dear EDC Board Members:

I am pleased to announce that we have an EDC project scheduled for a public vote at the City of Longwood on Monday, June 20, 2016.

I wanted to alert you as we continue to work with the company on this competitive project. Although the company has not made a final decision, I can tell you about some of the details of the project:

- Company: CompuTech City provides a variety of IT services to the healthcare industry by implementing network management, billing services, cloud solutions, system security and other support services. CompuTech City is headquartered in Lake Mary and currently employs 23 workers.
- Economic impact: CompuTech City would add 35 new jobs over the next three years and make a $2,500,000 capital investment in the region.
- Partners: The State of Florida, Enterprise Florida, Seminole County, and the City of Longwood have all been important partners on this project.

Orlando EDC Business Development Director Tracy Turk is the project leader and is continuing to monitor the progress of this project.

I know you share our excitement about this project and its potential impact on our community.

Dear Mayor,

First let me commend you and your staff for the awesome work done in response to the recent attack. In the face of this tragedy, your team has made us proud to call Orlando home. Thank you.

Secondly, I am writing to inform you that local Pastors in the Orlando area are joining forces to coordinate the "Orlando Strong Gospel Concert". 100% of the funds raised at this July 2nd event will be donated to the 1 Orlando Fund to benefit the victims of the recent attack on our city. The event will feature The City-Wide Orlando Strong Gospel Choir as well as a few national recording artist. We are anticipating about 2,500 people in attendance to this event.

It is important to note that our national gospel recording artist for this event have agreed to waive their fees and come to our city for this benefit concert. Also, we have a production team secured who will donate their equipment and services. Within a couple hours of making some phone calls, everyone including an Orlando Hotel has agreed to come on board free of charge to make this event a success. However, we do need a letter of support from the City of Orlando, and we also are requesting an appearance by the Mayor at the event.

Because it is necessary for us to move very quickly to garner as much support as possible, I am requesting a simple letter of support from your office right away so that we can lock in these vendors and artist services at no charge.

Thank you so much for help with this. If I can answer any further questions, my cell is listed below. Thanks again.

Buddy, I first want to thank you for your leadership during this horrific time. I can't imagine that any one is quite prepared for such an event, but you, your staff, OPD, and OFD are doing an amazing job during this time of need.

St. Michael's Episcopal Church has asked that I extend an invitation to you and Karen to worship with us at the 10:15 service this Sunday. I certainly appreciate it if you cannot fit it into your schedule this week and if you can't maybe one Sunday in the near future would work better. We just want to show you that we as a neighborhood stand behind you and ask God together for his grace.

To: "buddy.dyer@cityoforlando.net" <buddy.dyer@cityoforlando.net>

Mayor Dyer:

By way of introduction, I'm Mike Wilson, Vice President of Professional Services at CostQuest Associates. CostQuest developed the model behind San Francisco's recent broadband planning efforts (see a summary of the initial report here: <http://www.sfbos.org/Modules/ShowDocument.aspx?documentid=55324>). At next week's U.S. Conference of Mayors in Indianapolis there will be a Transportation and Communications Standing Committee Meeting where broadband availability will be discussed (among other topics). CostQuest's President, Jim Stegeman, will give a short summary of our work in San Francisco and elsewhere. We will also be available during the conference to give one-on-one overviews of our work and give cities a first-glance at our assessment of the viability of gigabit-speed broadband across their communities. We have developed some data specific for Orlando and would be happy to spend some time going over what we've found.

As Orlando looks to increase availability of broadband to all its citizens and potentially bring Gigabit-speed internet to all homes and businesses, there are many legal, regulatory, economic, and social issues to consider. Our model can help assess the different ownership and public-private partnership scenarios, as-well-as help to manage digital divide issues, demand and deployment.

Please let me know if you're interested in having a quick overview of what we've developed for Orlando. We're available to meet at the below times. Please email or call me and let me know if you'd like to schedule a few minutes to talk.

Saturday, June 25th from 3:30 – 5:30pm

Sunday, June 26th from 2:30 – 5:00pm

Alternatively, you're welcome to come talk to us after the Transportation and Communications meeting or schedule something for another time by calling me at 425-772-2261 or emailing me using my below email address.

I look forward to seeing you in Indianapolis.

The events of this past week have been a drain on you and the City you represent. Thank you for your dedication. I am concerned that a permit has been issued allowing WBC to protest in a community that has suffered as much as Orlando. Will each of you reach out to the news media and request that they DO NOT cover the WBC PROTEST. Perhaps if the hate group doesn't get coverage they will leave our City and keep the anger away. Mayor Dyer,

I know you and your staff are busy, so I will keep this short. In response to the tragic events that happened at Pulse, a club I have frequented several times in my life, I purchased the domain www.pulseorlandomemorial.com this past Monday. I wanted to ensure it would be used for proper use and not purchased for non-memorial purposes. I am sure your staff has mentioned a possible memorial to the victims. A memorial at Lake Eola, the heart of Orlando, would be quite fitting.

This is the third time I have lived in Orlando. From a former Disney World cast member and Bank of America manager, I am now the President & CEO of Ohana Healthcare LLC with a new office in Orlando. I am Orlando. We are Orlando. I would be more than willing and interested to create a non-profit organization for the establishment of a permanent Pulse Orlando Memorial at Lake Eola.

I do not want to step on any else's toes. If a permanent memorial is already in the works by the city, then I would like to donate www.pulseorlandomemorial.com to the City of Orlando so it may be used for the memorial, or forward to the official memorial page.

Thank you for your time and hard work during the past few weeks....and over the next several weeks.

John "Buddy"-

I'm reaching out because my good friend Rick Nolan needs your help.

He's a strong progressive representing Minnesota's 8th District, and he's in one of the most competitive races in the country.

We need bold leaders like Rick in Congress if we're going to continue building our movement, which is why Democrats around the country are banding together this week to send a surge of support Rick's way.

Rick needs to raise $25,000 by the end of the day to stay on track for the FEC deadline.

Can I count on you to chip in \$5 or more right now to help Rick before the FEC deadline?

We have a historic chance to win back the House and build progressive power in Congress this year. We can't afford to lose races like this one.

Here are a few reasons why you should support Rick right now:

- Rick's a proud member of the Congressional Progressive Caucus.
- In 2014, Rick won by less than 2% of the vote.
- His far-right opponent, a self-funded multi-millionaire back for another try, has already invested $500k in TV ads this cycle.
- Republican Super PACs have already run negative ads against Rick.
- The polling shows this race as a dead heat!

John "Buddy", the Republicans want this seat! We can't let them win this one. Please contribute towards our moneybomb now:

Subject: ICYMI: President Obama's Remarks in Orlando, Florida

★★★★THE WHITE HOUSE★★★★

Friends,

Yesterday, the President and Vice President traveled to Orlando, Florida to meet with families of victims of the attack and stand in solidarity with the Orlando community. After meeting privately with families, and laying 49 white roses at a memorial site, the President gave remarks to the press.

You can watch the full video of the President's remarks below, or visit this blog post to read some of the key takeaways from his remarks.

In his remarks, the President said, "Those who were killed and injured here were gunned down by a single killer with a powerful assault weapon. The motives of this killer may have been different than the mass shooters in Aurora or Newtown, but the instruments of death were so similar. And now, another 49 innocent people are dead. Another 53 are injured . . . [W]e can do something about the amount of damage that they do. Unfortunately, our politics have conspired to make it as easy as possible for a terrorist or just a disturbed individual like those in Aurora and Newtown to buy extraordinarily powerful weapons -- and they can do so legally."

He continued, "Here in Orlando, in the men and women taken from us, those who loved them, we see some of the true character of this country -- the best of humanity coming roaring back; the love and the compassion and the fierce resolve that will carry us through not just through this atrocity, but through whatever difficult times may confront us. It's our pluralism and our respect for each other -- including a young man who said to a friend, he was 'super proud' to be Latino. It's our love of country -- the patriotism of an Army reservist who was known as 'an amazing officer.' It's our unity -- the outpouring of love that so many across our country have shown to our fellow Americans who are LGBT, a display of solidarity that might have been unimaginable even a few years ago. Out of this darkest of moments, that gives us hope."

Subject: Fundraiser For Families and Victims

Good Afternoon,

I will keep this as short and sweet as I can, I realize and respect that all of you are very busy. I am writing this as a citizen of Central Florida and a humanitarian. My name is Bob Barson and I would like to offer a potential fund raising opportunity to the victims and families of our city's tragedy.

Over the years my giving has been to give back to kids. I have done this through wrestling and combat sports such as mixed martial arts (MMA). In the past I was vice chairman of USA Wrestling Florida, Team leader of the Junior World Championships in Istanbul Turkey as well as being on numerous boards such as the YMCA and others.

In 2007 I was involved in assisting the start up of the World Fighting Federation (WFF), out of Arizona. The WFF is a mixed martial arts organization that has now produced over 20 events for the State of Arizona. On behalf of the WFF we would like to offer our community, to put on an event on behalf of the victims, families as well as first responders and all involved.

We are offering to donate each and every dollar made after costs associated to the Orlando Fund or any other fund you feel appropriate. We are also prepared to credential local Puerto Rican and aspiring LGBTU other fighters, both professional and amateur whom are looking to make a name for themselves and are obviously, credentialed by the boxing commission. If there are any fighters that need proper credentialing, we will assist with that as well with the boxing commission. We believe this event can raise millions of dollars for the cause.

If this is a possibility, we are prepared to get Fox Sports and or ABC involved as well as the boxing commissioner of the state of Florida, as well as the Commissioner of the State of Arizona. If this is a possibility, we can use our "muscle" to work with our contacts however, we would obviously, most likely, need to utilize your influence as well.

Below is a little about about the WFF: In regards to myself, you can check me out on LinkedIn as well as Facebook. Additionally, you can check out www.intrustservicesonline.com -

Feel free to contact Judge Kenneth Lester, Seminole County to validate any content in this email, he is a close friend of ours as well as a leader in our Central Florida community. This is what we do, we assist people in need, and it's our passion to do so.

Kindest Regards,

About Us

The World Fighting Federation (WFF MMA) provides mixed martial arts fighters with professional opportunities that extend far beyond the cage. Household names in the fighting world will tell you that skill alone isn't enough to build a career. Fighters need help developing their brands, obtaining sponsors and selling merchandise. That's where the WFF MMA comes in. We provide the guidance and tools necessary in building a professional MMA career.

The WFF MMA was founded with a simple philosophy: "Take care of the people that take care of you." This sentiment reverberates throughout the fighting community and the community in which we live. As more fighters take part in the organization, we will be able to provide more and more benefits. In our vision for the future, we plan to offer fighters monies for health care and even opportunities to have ownership in the organization.

The WFF MMA also makes a sincere effort to support local communities that host WFF MMA events.

Thom Ortiz served as the head wrestling coach of Arizona State University for eight years.

During this time, he amassed...

- Three Pac-10 Conference Coach of the Year awards
- Two Top 6 finishes in the NCAA Tournament
- One NCAA individual champion
- 14 All-Americans
- 17 Pac-10 Champions
- Three PAC 10 team titles

Prior to coaching at ASU, he served as the assistant coach for the legendary Bobby Douglas at Iowa State for nine years. His experience running a successful collegiate program has been instrumental in the business world.

In 2009, Thom began pursuing his professional MMA career. He started off with a bang, dominating his first two opponents with unanimous wins in both bouts. In addition to fighting himself, Thom continues to coach several of the nation's best MMA fighters. His 35 years experience as a wrestler has given him a unique ability to teach fighters how to transition wrestle specific to MMA.

This elite mindset motivated her to become a doctor of Naturopathic Medicine where she has treated some of the world's top athletes in the NFL, MLB, PGA, UFC, PGA, NHL and Olympics as well as some of Hollywood's premier actors & musicians.

With her business background and elite athlete experience, she is a perfect fit to be involved with WFF. She brings her passion of the sports industry combined with her experience and knowledge gained over the years to be an invaluable asset to the growth of WFF.

Along with being a partner in the WFF, she is a mother and a yoga instructor

I am sure Orlando is moving to secure space to preserve items from the worst hate crime in history. Those items will be needed to show the face of hate by many GLBT archives, community centers around the country and the world. So often in the gay community items that are important to our history are destroyed. Please Orlando do not let that happen.

My thoughts are with the Orlando gay community during this very sad time. Thank you.

PROPERTY HIGHLIGHTS

- Strong National Credit Tenant -- BJ's Wholesale Club, Inc. is a private warehouse club with 9M+ members & 213 locations in the Eastern U.S. (approximately 125 with BJ's Gas stations available to members, at a discounted rate, & non-members); 2015 revenue exceeded $12.5B.
- New 2016 Construction -- Tenant is constructing the building & all site improvements with BJ's latest design & concept.
- High Barriers to Entry -- BJ's Wholesale Club is the only warehouse club on the island. Cape Cod is known for its lengthy rezoning & entitlement process due in part to numerous environmental codes. Updated regulations prohibit new gas station sites in the prime retail area. These barriers give the subject property a significant competitive edge over similar property types with all permits in place & a newly constructed gas station.
- Brand New, Long Term Ground Lease -- New approximately 20-year lease with rent increases throughout base term & 4 (5-year) options. Provides security & stability for the investor.
- Absolute NNN Lease -- No landlord responsibilities -- tenant pays for taxes, insurance, CAM, roof & structure. Ideal 1031/1033 exchange.
- Ideal Location -- Located along Rte. 132/Iyannough Rd. (28.4K ADT) close to Rte. 6 & Mid-Cape Hwy. and between Cape Cod Mall & Barnstable Municipal Airport. Cape Cod has 6M+ visitors annually, with population peaking in summer.
- Close Proximity to National Tenants -- Positioned near national credit tenants such as: Whole Foods, Macy's, Best Buy, CVS, The Home Depot, Trader Joe's and Barnes & Noble.
- Favorable Debt Options Available -- Property will be delivered without debt giving Buyer flexibility to keep it debt free or take advantage of favorable financing options.

Hi! My mother lives near orlando. We were devastated to hear the news about Pulse. I wrote a song a year ago that still holds true today. I may not be a huge name in the industry. But i wanted to share a song that maybe I could perform for the families or city. During these tragic times we must stick together and spread love. That is my goal in life. Make a difference. Be a light.

Dear Mayor Dyer and Ms. Sanford,

Thanks for responding. President Obama's and VP Biden's visit was a great lift for our community. I stood with the crowd as they came to the Dr. Phillips memorial. The Orlandoans I was with were so excited to see his car and see them lay the flowers at the memorial. They stood in the heat until the motorcade left, cheering them as they drove off. Then there was a pause in the cheering. I must let you know that the best part of the day was next. The fire truck and the police motorcade then started to leave and the cheers began again. It took a second or two for the police and firemen to realize we were cheering FOR THEM! Big smiles on their faces, so I hope we helped them a bit too.

Orlando Strong. Orlando United!

Get some rest, sir. :-)

To Our Community,

As you may be aware, the City of Orlando partnered with the Central Florida Foundation to manage the distribution of donations to the OneOrlando Fund. The OneOrlando Fund was designed to benefit nonprofits that directly assist victims and their families through counseling and other essential services.

Today, the Foundation and the City of Orlando agreed to pursue separate strategies to respond to the needs of our community.

Our strategy, now called the Better Together Fund, provides a way to respond to the needs of our community now and in the time ahead. This effort will take place through a transparent, accountable grant-making process addressing the following priorities:

- Nonprofits that are supporting the victims and families
- The LGBTQ, Hispanic, faith and other affected communities
- Underlying causes of this tragic event (not related to policy or advocacy)
- Other needs we cannot anticipate until we face them

The City of Orlando will pursue its own strategy to give funds directly to victims and their families. To support this effort directly visit oneorlando.org.

We stand by the priorities and structure outlined above that were initially established. At the Foundation, we believe that honoring donor intent is the bedrock of ethical nonprofit governance. All gifts managed by the Foundation are used for the purpose stated by the donor.

Our strategy for granting funds remains the same, as does our dedication to helping the community heal after this tragedy.

As you know, the Central Florida Foundation is a public grant-making foundation that serves as a trusted philanthropic home for more than 400 charitable funds established by generous individuals, families and corporations.

We exist to encourage and support community-based philanthropy and maximize the charitable contributions of our community's investors over the long term. We are governed by a volunteer board of community leaders and run by professional staff with expertise in investing in the quality of life in our community.

If you plan to support the Better Together Fund through the Central Florida Foundation, visit www.cffound.org to donate online or mail checks to Central Florida Foundation, 800 N. Magnolia Ave., Suite 1200, Orlando, FL 32803. Checks should be made out to Central Florida Foundation with Better Together Fund in the memo line. For wire transfer instructions, contact mwarrick@cffound.org.

We are thankful for your continued support of the Foundation. Please feel free to contact us at 407.872.3050 or rcalderon@cffound.org should you have any questions or concerns.

Subject: We lost one of our own in Orlando

Dear Buddy,

As we grieve for Orlando, our sister Anita Williams is grieving for her cousin Eddie.

The tragedy in Orlando this weekend has affected us all in many ways. But for our 1199SEIU sister Anita Williams, a Certified Nursing Assistant at a Consulate nursing home in Orlando, the shooting hit home. Her cousin, Eddie Justice, was one of the 49 brilliant lives cut short by the homophobic inspired massacre that took place at Pulse nightclub on Sunday night.

Let's show our SEIU love to Anita and her family by donating to the Pulse Victims Fund. When you donate, add a comment saying "In the memory of Eddie Justice"

"Mommy, I love you" was one of the last texts Eddie sent his mom that night when he was he was trapped in the bathroom. You might have already heard that story or seen his picture in the media. Eddie's best friend also shared his survival story "How one man survived the shooting in Orlando" with tears in his eyes.

But Eddie is much more than his last moments. He was a 30-year-old accountant; and, according to his mother, he was a homebody who liked to eat, work out and make everyone laugh. His family is union family.

Eddie's story reaffirms our commitment to support hardworking families like his to have dignifying jobs so they can raise healthy sons and daughters, make sure they go to college and have a fulfilled life. Now, we need to stand stronger than ever to stop the hate against our LGBTQ sons and daughters — the same hate that ended Eddie's life that night.

We can stop hate with love. Any donation to Eddie's family is an act of kindness.

Remember, make sure to add a comment saying your donation is in the memory of Eddie Justice.

My heart goes to our sister Anita and her family, I hope yours does too.

In solidarity,

Honorable City Attorney Mayanne Downs Mayanne.downs@cityoforlando.net

RE: Omar Mateen's house

Dear Honorable Mayor Dyer and Honorable City Attorney Downs,

My thoughts and prayers are with all of you in Orlando.

According to Breitbart News, Omar Mateen transferred the interest in his house to his family members weeks before his murderous acts. <http://www.breitbart.com/national-security/2016/06/17/public-records-omar-mateen-gave-house-laws-10-wife-noor-salman-witnessed-transfer/>.

As a former mayor myself, I am aware that our police would routinely "seize" items from criminals that were deemed "tools of the crime." For example, if someone was selling and distributing drugs, items such as a scale, or car, or even their home, were "seized" – then sold at auction – with the proceeds going to our law enforcement trust fund. The fund would be used to buy police officers bullet proof vests, pay for training, etc.

Make no mistake about it, Mateen's house was a tool of his heinous crime. He plotted there ... he stored his weapons there ... he conducted research over his internet there ... he used his home as a base camp for his murderous, Jihadist activities. The same logic applies to his vehicles, which played an active role in driving him to the crime scene to scout it out and complete his deeds.

Please research this idea and if doable, please seize all of his relevant possessions, auction them off, and donate the proceeds to either law enforcement or a victim's fund. It would be unconscionable if a pre-meditated murderer was able to shield his assets in anticipation of his crimes.

If the law as to your ability to do this is unclear ... or doesn't exist for some reason, please engage your Florida state and national representatives to enact it and make it happen.

Best of luck to you and again, may God be with you.

Sincerely,

David Bentkowski, Esq.

Mayor Dyer,

As a resident of Orlando I was heartbroken as everyone else in the recent terror attack at Pulse. First let me say that I am a Gospel preacher and as such, do not support a setting such as Pulse for any reason. However, no one deserves to be the victim of a hateful act such as this. They are human beings first with a right to life. They, as any of us, deserve to be treated with respect in the midst of differences. This is also the reason I am contacting you. I am mindful that we may differ on certain ideologies, but I would be unfair not to commend you on the difficult but superior job you have done in uniting the great city of Orlando. My family has lived here for seven years and it is now where we call home. This attack may have crippled us, but it is far from paralyzing our morale. Thank you for working so diligently to bring this city back to its feet and acknowledging that all lives matter.

Sincerely,

Nathan Franson

Subject: Cape Coral - Our thoughts are with you

Mayor Dyer,

I write to you on behalf of the City of Cape Coral. Writing to you has been a top priority since Monday morning, however, there were no words that I could find to adequately express our thoughts and feelings. I realize you have received many, many letters of support, condolence, sympathy, outrage and concern and ours may be no different. I do want to say that as sad and horrific as the situations are you have approached your residents, and the media, with such dignity and professionalism. You have shown tremendous leadership and the tenor you set at the top level is quite evident in Chief Mina's demeanor as well as many of your staff members who have faced the media throughout the week.

Orlando has long been considered the happiest place on earth. With these horrific events this week many would be thinking you may now be the saddest place, but we see determination, love, community fortitude, and a resilience that is remarkable. The City of Cape Coral is proud to stand with you, in whatever way we are able, even if it is only to stand quietly by in admiration of you all.

With fond regards,
Marni

I pray for you some down-town at some point, a time away, a time for God to feed your heart and soul as you have fed so many others.

It's cruel and grueling but so many are being served by you and by all of us.

It's amazing indeed.

Subject: Family Assistance Center

I am so proud of our community and how we have come together to support each other during this difficult time. We have shown the world the strength of our city and how we are better together and will not be divided.

As our community continues to recover from the Pulse tragedy, we have opened a Family Assistance Center to serve as a critical connection between victims and the important services they need as part of their recovery. Over the past two days since we opened the center at Camping World Stadium, 94 families and 256 individuals have visited to receive help. But we know there are still more victims in need of help and we want them to know we are here for them.

The Family Assistance Center isn't just for those who lost loved ones or were injured, it is for anyone affected by the tragedy. If you, your friends or family members have been affected by the shooting, please encourage them to seek help. We have made access to these services as easy as possible. Hours of operations and resources available at the Family Assistance Center are listed on our website cityoforlando.net/familyassistancecenter.

Thank you for continuing to stand together as one Orlando.

Buddy Dyer
Mayor

Subject: U.S. Attorney General Loretta Lynch Visit:

All:

On Tuesday, June 21, 2016, U.S. Attorney General (AG), Loretta Lynch, will be visiting Orlando and would like to address and thank all first responders who handled the tragic incident our City endured. The AG is asking to meet with all Police, Fire, Communications, Medical Staff, including surgeons and nurses in order to convey her sincere appreciation for their courageousness during this incident.

You will notice that this initial notification does not include the location or the time, as those details are still being worked out. I am told that the itinerary will not be available until sometime on Monday. Therefore, I wanted to get this information out to everyone as soon as possible, so that you could plan for this event, which will most likely be held at First Baptist Church of Orlando.

More information to follow as soon as available.

Thanks in advance.

Subject: U.S. Attorney General Loretta Lynch Visit:

All:

On Tuesday, June 21, 2016, U.S. Attorney General (AG), Loretta Lynch, will be visiting Orlando and would like to address and thank all first responders who handled the tragic incident our City endured. The AG is asking to meet with all Police, Fire, Communications, Medical Staff, including surgeons and nurses in order to convey her sincere appreciation for their courageousness during this incident.

You will notice that this initial notification does not include the location or the time, as those details are still being worked out. I am told that the itinerary will not be available until sometime on Monday. Therefore, I wanted to get this information out to everyone as soon as possible, so that you could plan for this event, which will most likely be held at First Baptist Church of Orlando.

More information to follow as soon as available.

Thanks in advance.

Elected Officials,

The family responsible for manufacturing high-powered rifles has stated that they were/are not meant to be used by civilians but only by those in the military.

Based on this statement alone, there is no good argument for permitting the purchase of high-powered rifles by civilians; no circumstance warrants this 'privilege'.

Please expend your energy, individually or collectively, to ensure a safer and saner society by banning the purchase of high-powered rifles by U.S. civilians.

Thank you.

Dear Mayor Dyer,

This will be the first time that all families will unite, some meeting for the first time. Traveling from many states along with the City Beautiful #Orlandostrong ng.

The family consist of veterans, current military ,several teachers and professors, current and retired law enforcement, fire fighters, students from primary to doctorate. Entrepreneurs, medical doctors, engineers, retirees to federal positions. My family has contributed to Florida along with other states and countries around the world and not forget those who fought for our freedom.

Which goes without saying that I believe and it would be an honor to have the dates of July 28, to July 31,2016 to be officially declared The Benefield Family and Health Awareness Week.

Subject: Fundraiser For Families and Victims

Good Afternoon,

I will keep this as short and sweet as I can, I realize and respect that all of you are very busy. I am writing this as a citizen of Central Florida and a humanitarian. My name is Bob Barson and I would like to offer a potential fund raising opportunity to the victims and families of our city's tragedy.

Over the years my giving has been to give back to kids. I have done this through wrestling and combat sports such as mixed martial arts (MMA). In the past I was vice chairman of USA Wrestling Florida, Team leader of the Junior World Championships in Istanbul Turkey as well as being on numerous boards such as the YMCA and others.

In 2007 I was involved in assisting the start up of the World Fighting Federation (WFF), out of Arizona. The WFF is a mixed martial arts organization that has now produced over 20 events for the State of Arizona. On behalf of the WFF we would like to offer our community, to put on an event on behalf of the victims, families as well as first responders and all involved.

We are offering to donate each and every dollar made after costs associated to the Orlando Fund or any other fund you feel appropriate. We are also prepared to credential local Puerto Rican and aspiring LGBTU other fighters, both professional and amateur whom are looking to make a name for themselves and are obviously, credentialed by the boxing commission. If there are any fighters that need proper credentialing, we will assist with that as well with the boxing commission. We believe this event can raise millions of dollars for the cause.

If this is a possibility, we are prepared to get Fox Sports and or ABC involved as well as the boxing commissioner of the state of Florida, as well as the Commissioner of the State of Arizona. If this is a possibility, we can use our "muscle" to work with our contacts however, we would obviously, most likely, need to utilize your influence as well.

Below is a little about about the WFF: In regards to myself, you can check me out on LinkedIn as well as Facebook. Additionally, you can check out www.intrustservicesonline.com -

Feel free to contact Judge Kenneth Lester, Seminole County to validate any content in this email, he is a close friend of ours as well as a leader in our Central Florida community. This is what we do, we assist people in need, and it's our passion to do so.

Kindest Regards,
Robert Barson

About Us

The World Fighting Federation (WFF MMA) provides mixed martial arts fighters with professional opportunities that extend far beyond the cage. Household names in the fighting world will tell you that skill alone isn't enough to build a career. Fighters need help developing their brands, obtaining sponsors and selling merchandise. That's where the WFF MMA comes in. We provide the guidance and tools necessary in building a professional MMA career.

The WFF MMA was founded with a simple philosophy: "Take care of the people that take care of you." This sentiment reverberates throughout the fighting community and the community in which we live. As more fighters take part in the organization, we will be able to provide more and more benefits. In our vision for the future, we plan to offer fighters monies for health care and even opportunities to have ownership in the organization.

The WFF MMA also makes a sincere effort to support local communities that host WFF MMA events.

Thom Ortiz served as the head wrestling coach of Arizona State University for eight years.

During this time, he amassed...

- Three Pac-10 Conference Coach of the Year awards
- Two Top 6 finishes in the NCAA Tournament
- One NCAA individual champion

- 14 All-Americans
- 17 Pac-10 Champions
- Three PAC 10 team titles

Prior to coaching at ASU, he served as the assistant coach for the legendary Bobby Douglas at Iowa State for nine years. His experience running a successful collegiate program has been instrumental in the business world.

In 2009, Thom began pursuing his professional MMA career. He started off with a bang, dominating his first two opponents with unanimous wins in both bouts. In addition to fighting himself, Thom continues to coach several of the nation's best MMA fighters. His 35 years experience as a wrestler has given him a unique ability to teach fighters how to transition wrestle specific to MMA.

Brandy is a former collegiate All-American cross country and indoor track athlete and part of multiple championship teams.

This elite mindset motivated her to become a doctor of Naturopathic Medicine where she has treated some of the world's top athletes in the NFL, MLB, PGA, UFC, PGA, NHL and Olympics as well as some of Hollywood's premier actors & musicians.

With her business background and elite athlete experience, she is a perfect fit to be involved with WFF. She brings her passion of the sports industry combined with her experience and knowledge gained over the years to be an invaluable asset to the growth of WFF.

Along with being a partner in the WFF, she is a mother and a yoga instructor

Subject: Don't forget about Orlando Youth Alliance

I have been looking over the lists of services in various websites and many seem to be excluding or forgetting about the Orlando Youth Alliance. I hope you will include OYA. You may think that Zebra and OYA are the same. We are two separate organizations both offering critical services.

I know our services are needed as an example a dad from South Lake County drove over an hour to bring his 16 year old daughter to OYA this week, because she can't stop crying and is scared to leave the house. This is time for unity. Please help make Orlando United.

At the Orlando Youth Alliance we provide support groups for LGBTQ youth ages 13-24. The topics we normally discuss (bullying, coming out to parents) will now change in the weeks and months ahead. Pulse was a meeting place for our older members. Many celebrated their 18th birthday at Pulse. Some of our members left Pulse just 30 minutes before the shooting. They lost friends. Survivor guilt is real. If you know any LGBT or Allied youth who would benefit from OYA please reach out. Let's help our youth cope and be strong again.

Please share with the community that the Orlando Youth Alliance is offering three, free weekly support groups. The groups currently are being led by a LMHC and offering grief counseling and support for youth ages 13-24 who are dealing with survivor guilt or having a difficult time coming to grips with this tragedy.

Our groups are facilitated by criminally background checked adults and have security or police presence.

Subject: Blog: It's Time for Congress to Provide the Funding We Need for the Opioid Epidemic

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

FROM THE Office of National Drug Control Policy

Dear ONDCP Stakeholders,

We wanted to make sure you saw today's blog post from Director Botticelli and OMB Director Donovan discussing that Congress should fully fund the President's \$1.1 billion request to fight the opioid epidemic so every American with an opioid use disorder who wants treatment can get it. Please feel free to send far and wide to your networks, especially as individuals have their voices heard on this important topic in the coming days and weeks.

Sincerely,
Office of Intergovernmental and Public Liaison
White House Office of National Drug Control Policy

It's Time for Congress to Provide the Funding We Need for the Opioid Epidemic

JUNE 17, 2016 AT 3:15 PM ET BY MICHAEL BOTTICELLI, SHAUN DONOVAN _ _ _

Summary: Congress should fully fund the President's $1.1 billion request to fight the opioid epidemic so every American with an opioid use disorder who wants treatment can get it.*

Prescription drug abuse and heroin use have taken a heartbreaking toll on too many Americans and their families, while straining resources of law enforcement and treatment programs. More Americans now die every year from drug overdoses than they do in motor vehicle crashes.

The President has made clear that addressing the prescription opioid and heroin epidemic is a priority for his Administration, and has proposed to invest \$1.1 billion in new funding to make sure that every American with an opioid use disorder who seeks treatment can get the help needed.

Congress has been voting on various pieces of legislation related to the opioid epidemic, but so far has not provided the resources needed to make treatment available to everyone who wants it.

Yesterday, a majority of Senators--both Republicans and Democrats--voted in favor of developing a final bill that provides enough money for prevention, treatment, and recovery to address the opioid epidemic (You can see how Senators voted HERE). A few members of Congress will be negotiating the final legislation in the coming days (Those "conferees" are listed HERE). But they are not bound by the Senate vote to provide funding, and they haven't agreed on the actual amount of funding to provide.

The President has said he wants to sign legislation that includes $1.1 billion in new funding to help Americans who want treatment get it wherever they live. This map shows how much new funding for treatment each State could potentially qualify for if Congress passes what the President has requested:

Recovery from opioid and other substance use disorders is possible, and many Americans are able to recover because they get the treatment and care they need. But too many still do not get treatment and care. That's why the President continues to call on Congress to provide the resources to ensure that every American who wants treatment can get it and start the road to recovery.

I have been looking over the lists of services in various websites and many seem to be excluding or forgetting about the Orlando Youth Alliance. I hope you will include OYA. You may think that Zebra and OYA are the same. We are two separate organizations both offering critical services.

I know our services are needed as an example a dad from South Lake County drove over an hour to bring his 16 year old daughter to OYA this week, because she can't stop crying and is scared to leave the house. This is time for unity. Please help make Orlando United.

Thank you.

Orlando Youth Alliance

At the Orlando Youth Alliance we provide support groups for LGBTQ youth ages 13-24. The topics we normally discuss (bullying, coming out to parents) will now change in the weeks and months ahead. Pulse was a meeting place for our older members. Many celebrated their 18th birthday at Pulse. Some of our members left Pulse just 30 minutes before the shooting. They lost friends. Survivor guilt is real. If you know any LGBT or Allied youth who would benefit from OYA please reach out. Let's help our youth cope and be strong again.

Please share with the community that the Orlando Youth Alliance is offering three, free weekly support groups. The groups currently are being led by a LMHC and offering grief counseling and support for youth ages 13-24 who are dealing with survivor guilt or having a difficult time coming to grips with this tragedy.

Our groups are facilitated by criminally background checked adults and have security or police presence.

Mayor Dyer -

Thank you for all you have done for the community! You are a great mayor and person and our community is blessed to have you.

I was born and raised in Orlando. Born 42 years ago in the same hospital many of the victims passed away in. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to assist. I have volunteered to help shield families from any possible negativity/protests at the funerals (so sad anyone could fathom to do that). I would be honored to help in any other way, as well. Please let me know and/or the best person/organization to contact for this information.

Thank you,

I am so proud of our community and how we have come together to support each other during this difficult time. We have shown the world the strength of our city and how we are better together and will not be divided.

As our community continues to recover from the Pulse tragedy, we have opened a Family Assistance Center to serve as a critical connection between victims and the important services they need as part of their recovery. Over the past two days since we opened the center at Camping World Stadium, 94 families and 256 individuals have visited to receive help. But we know there are still more victims in need of help and we want them to know we are here for them.

The Family Assistance Center isn't just for those who lost loved ones or were injured, it is for anyone affected by the tragedy. If you, your friends or family members have been affected by the shooting, please encourage them to seek help. We have made access to these services as easy as possible. Hours of operations and resources available at the Family Assistance Center are listed on our website cityoforlando.net/familyassistancecenter.

Thank you for continuing to stand together as one Orlando.

We are all heartbroken over the past week's tragedies. The attacks and terrible events have shown an outpouring of love and affection this community might not have ever experienced. Your leadership and guidance serves as an example for other cities to follow for years to come when facing such horrific events.

As a sign of our united spirit, I wish to suggest a possible lasting memorial to our victims, survivors, and community. Please investigate the Rainbow Eucalyptus trees as a possible symbol of our UnitedOrlando memorial. As a patron of the Dr. Phillips Center Broadway Series, my wife (the cultured one in this marriage) and I have watched the development of our downtown area. In the large courtyard at the entrance of the Dr. Phillips Center, a beautiful cluster of Rainbow Eucalyptus with appropriate markers could show our continued support to the LGBTQ community and last memorial to the past weeks' events.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter. Please take the time to explore this magnificent trees and their exquisite beauty. I have recently provided one for a small gathering of supporters to our LGBTQ community that will be planting it this weekend. If you wish any further information about acquiring the trees, please feel free to contact us - fellow members of the College Park community.

Orlando Strong: A SAK Benefit Show

Wednesday, June 22nd at 8:00 PM

A DONATION ONLY SHOW

We've all been struck by the shock and sadness of recent events in Orlando, and we all want to help. Our core values at SAK have always been "Truth, Excellence and Joy", so we'd like to use our strengths as a comedy venue to share those values in support of the victims of last Sunday's attack. This show will feature SAK professional performers in a variety of fun acts. Admission is free, but we are encouraging donations. 100% of proceeds from the door will go to the "OneOrlando" campaign helping the victims and families of victims from this tragedy.

We will welcome donations large and small. While credit cards will be accepted for donations, cash and checks are appreciated. Checks should be made out to "OneOrlando". Please reserve your seat through our website to guarantee admission.

This morning our community, and our nation, experienced a horrific crime. Our hearts and prayers are with the victims and their families.

We are dealing with a tragedy that we never could have imagined. What happened this morning in our city could have happened in any community in the country. President Barack Obama has provided the support of the federal government, and Governor Rick Scott accepted my request for a state of emergency in the City. This allows us to bring in additional resources to support our efforts.

We are focused on identifying the victims and notifying their families. Law enforcement is working the scene as efficiently and diligently as possible while being respectful to the remains of the deceased. The names of the victims after their next of kin have been notified are being added to cityoforlando.net/victims.

I am proud of how our community has responded to this tragedy. Our dedicated first responders and hospital staff deserve our thanks. Their actions have saved many lives. And today many residents donated blood to help the victims and joined one another to lend support.

We have set up a hotline for family members of the victims: 407.246.4357. Aspire Health has also offered grief counselors through the Zebra Coalition who can be reached at 407.228.1448.

We understand our community is grieving and that vigils are being planned but please hold off on vigils - they represent a serious strain on our limited City and public safety resources, which we need to dedicate to law enforcement and victims.

If you are seeking a location to leave memorial items, please use the green space in front of the Dr. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts in Downtown Orlando.

Despite the fact that this crime will have a lasting effect on our city and country, Orlando is a strong community. We will be grieving together in the upcoming days, weeks and months. We need to support each other and love each other. This tragedy will not define us, but will bring us together.

The City of Orlando experienced a horrific event on Sunday, June 12; one no city should ever have to face. I have been so humbled by the outpouring of support from many of you asking how you can help and get involved.

In remembrance of those that lost their lives, we are asking for our Downtown churches to ring their bells 49 times at 2:02 a.m. on Sunday, June 19. Each chime will stand to represent and honor each victim.

In the days and weeks ahead, my hope is that we continue to unite and come together as one community, supporting the families and friends of the victims. We will not be defined by these events, but will find strength through our diversity and how we treat each other.

Thank you for your continued support.

Mayor Dyer,

It's been a while since we last met last year at the Orlando City SC opening match. The team is one of the shining jewels in Major League Soccer and is viewed as one of the best expansion team launches in pro sports history.

I am so sorry that we haven't had a chance to connect since that terrific moment for the City of Orlando, the State of Florida and MLS.

It goes without saying but we have all been deeply affected by the events in Orlando; and in this time of mourning we can only hope that this episode has some positive impact on heightening the national dialogue on hate crimes, gun violence, racism and homophobia.

I have watched with admiration and sympathy how well you have been managing leading your city during this unprecedented traumatic event. You showed incredible calm, strength and courage.

As you know, Orlando City SC will have a game tomorrow night at the Citrus Bowl. We have been working hard with Phil Rawlins and his staff to ensure that Saturday's game will be a proper tribute to everyone affected by this terrible tragedy – victims, families, first responders, and the broader Orlando community. For the first time in the history of MLS, we will stop the game during regular play for a moment of silence. The stoppage will happen as close to the 49th minute as possible to recognize the 49 people who lost their lives at the Pulse Nightclub.

I plan on attending the match along with my wife, Betsy, to lend whatever support we can.

On behalf of our clubs, players, owners, fans and our employees throughout the League, Major League Soccer will donate $50k to the OneOrlando Fund.

We have also produced a video featuring our players that will air in the stadium and throughout the country that shows our support for Orlando. The video is still in rough form, but I wanted you to see it before it is released tomorrow morning.

Stay strong and I hope to see you tomorrow.

I have announced the formation of the OneOrlando Fund. The purpose of the Fund is to provide a way to help respond to the needs of our community, now and in the time to come, after the effects of the Pulse nightclub tragedy.

The distribution of the funds will be administered by the Central Florida Foundation. The Foundation serves as the region's community foundation and is home to more than 400 charitable funds.

The Fund will support:

- Nonprofits that are supporting the victims and families
- The LGBTQ, Hispanic, faith and other affected communities
- Underlying causes of this tragic event
- Other needs we cannot anticipate until we face them

The OneOrlando Fund is a project of Strengthen Orlando, Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation created for the purpose of supporting and starting projects to strengthen the Orlando community.

The outpouring of support from our City partners has already begun:

- Walt Disney Company $1,000,000
 - In addition, eligible donations from Disney employees will be matched dollar for dollar by Disney Employee Matching Gifts: A Program of The Walt Disney Company Foundation
- Darden Restaurants $500,000
- The Orlando Magic $100,000
- JetBlue $100,000
- Mears $50,000

To contribute to the OneOrlando Fund, please visit OneOrlando.org.

Checks may be made payable to OneOrlando Fund and sent to:

OneOrlando

Subject: Family Assistance Center

I am so proud of our community and how we have come together to support each other during this difficult time. We have shown the world the strength of our city and how we are better together and will not be divided.

As our community continues to recover from the Pulse tragedy, we have opened a Family Assistance Center to serve as a critical connection between victims and the important services they need as part of their recovery. Over the past two days since we opened the center at Camping World Stadium, 94 families and 256 individuals have visited to receive help. But we know there are still more victims in need of help and we want them to know we are here for them.

The Family Assistance Center isn't just for those who lost loved ones or were injured, it is for anyone affected by the tragedy. If you, your friends or family members have been affected by the shooting, please encourage them to seek help. We have made access to these services as easy as possible. Hours of operations and resources available at the Family Assistance Center are listed on our website cityoforlando.net/familyassistancecenter.

Thank you for continuing to stand together as one Orlando.

Subject: The OneOrlando Fund

I have announced the formation of the OneOrlando Fund. The purpose of the Fund is to provide a way to help respond to the needs of our community, now and in the time to come, after the effects of the Pulse nightclub tragedy.

The distribution of the funds will be administered by the Central Florida Foundation. The Foundation serves as the region's community foundation and is home to more than 400 charitable funds.

The Fund will support:

- Nonprofits that are supporting the victims and families
- The LGBTQ, Hispanic, faith and other affected communities
- Underlying causes of this tragic event
- Other needs we cannot anticipate until we face them

The OneOrlando Fund is a project of Strengthen Orlando, Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation created for the purpose of supporting and starting projects to strengthen the Orlando community.

The outpouring of support from our City partners has already begun:

- Walt Disney Company $1,000,000
 - In addition, eligible donations from Disney employees will be matched dollar for dollar by Disney Employee Matching Gifts: A Program of The Walt Disney Company Foundation
- Darden Restaurants $500,000
- The Orlando Magic $100,000
- JetBlue $100,000
- Mears $50,000

To contribute to the OneOrlando Fund, please visit OneOrlando.org.

Checks may be made payable to OneOrlando Fund and sent to:

OneOrlando
PO Box 4990
Orlando, FL 32802-4990

For information regarding the OneOrlando Fund or to make a wire transfer, please contact info@oneorlando.org.

Subject: The Orlando Shooter: Law Enforcement Shaping A Politically Convenient Storyline

As It Shapes ISIS-Centric Narrative, Orlando Police Reject Freedom Of Information Request For Audio Of Nightclub Shooter's 911 Call

By carefully managing the release of information, law enforcement appears to be shaping a politically convenient storyline.

By Max Blumenthal, Sarah Lazare / AlterNet / June 14, 2016

Hours after Omar Mateen opened fire in the LGBTQ Pulse Nightclub in Orlando, the Orlando Police Department informed the media that Mateen had sworn allegiance to ISIS in a call to its 911 emergency line. This single detail became the focus of all the coverage that followed, prompting politicians from Hillary Clinton to Donald Trump and a parade of pundits to call for stepped up military efforts and hardline measures against Muslim-American communities.

As scrutiny of the Orlando Police Department's response to the shooting spree intensifies and Mateen's profile grows more complex with each new detail, the department is refusing to release the audio of the killer's alleged 911 call.

On June 13, AlterNet's Grayzone Project submitted a request under Florida's public records law for a written transcript and/or an audio recording of any and all phone calls that Mateen made to Orlando's 911 emergency line on the date of the Pulse Nightclub mass killing.

Janet Lugo, the records and identification unit supervisor for the Orlando Police Department, replied on June 14: “The records being requested are exempt from disclosure at this time. Section 119.071(2)(c)1., Florida Statutes, exempts from disclosure all active criminal investigative information.”

The statute exempts “all active criminal investigative information” from disclosure by Florida government agencies.

Michael German, a fellow with the NYU Law School’s Brennan Center for Justice’s Liberty and National Security Program, commented to AlterNet that “it’s clear that these law enforcement officials are selectively focusing on particular aspects of the attack when they speak with the media. For someone to cite allegiance to multiple terrorist groups that are actually in conflict with one another certainly does not reflect a deep attachment to any individual group’s ideology or political goal.”

According to FBI officials, Mateen previously pledged simultaneous allegiance to Al Qaeda and Hezbollah, two militant groups fighting on opposite sides of the Syrian civil war, and whose members have battled ISIS at various intervals.

The details of Mateen’s call to 911 provided to the media by the Orlando Police department and witnesses to the shooting highlight Mateen’s ideological incoherence. According to an anonymous police official quoted by the Daily Beast, Mateen told police that he was protesting U.S. bombing “in Iraq and Syria.” However, a witness named Patience Carter was quoted by the Washington Post claiming that Mateen wanted “Americans to stop bombing his country.” Mateen is the son of immigrants from Afghanistan, where the US is waging a military campaign against the Taliban -- yet another militant group that is battling ISIS.

Despite the array of new details that case Mateen as an erratic figure consumed with personal and psychological issues with little relevance to international terror organizations, the mainstream media’s narrative of a hardcore jihadist has remained intact, and thanks largely to law enforcement’s careful management of information. Indeed, the focus on ISIS has overwhelmed other important factors in the massacre, from lax gun laws to homegrown homophobia to Mateen’s history of domestic violence and alleged issues with his own sexuality.

The US-ISIS Echo Chamber

The official narrative of the massacre and the motives behind it was neatly encapsulated by a New York Times report on June 13:

“Mr. Mateen called 911, beginning a series of calls and conversations with the police, in which he declared allegiance to the Islamic State, the terrorist group that has taken over parts of Syria, Iraq and Libya.”

“He was cool and calm when he was making those phone calls to us,” Chief [John] Mina said. “We had a team of crisis negotiators that did talk to the suspect, just trying to get as much information as possible, and they focused on what they could do to resolve the situation.”

Even as the Orlando Police Department refused to release the audio of Mateen’s alleged call to 911, it provided details of the conversation to journalists. Daily Beast reporter Michael Daly wrote on Monday, “As paraphrased by the senior law enforcement source, Mateen told the 911 operator that, ‘I’m doing this to protest the U.S. bombing in Syria and Iraq and the killing of women and children... I’m doing this in solidarity with the Tsarnaev brothers and Moner Abu-Salha.’” (The Tsarnaev brothers carried out a homemade bomb attack on the Boston Marathon in 2013; the following year, Abu-Salha became the first US citizen to engage in a suicide attack in Syria.)

The narrative has filtered down to right-wing tabloid media in predictable fashion, with the Rupert Murdoch-owned New York Post running a 10-page spread on the Pulse Nightclub massacre beneath a banner reading, “ISIS VS. US.”

ISIS-related media outlets have exploited the opportunity to claim credit for Mateen’s attack, echoing US media accounts in what former FBI counter-terror agent Ali Soufan described as “circular reporting.”

A Bonanza For Militaristic Politicians

However bizarre Mateen’s conflicting allegiances might have been, the reports of his support for ISIS provided militaristic politicians from both parties with an irresistible opportunity.

True to form, Donald Trump exploited the massacre to promote his proposed ban on Muslims and call for an escalation of U.S. bombings against ISIS in Iraq and Syria. Hillary Clinton issued a strikingly similar response, calling for an expansion of the government’s terror watch list and declaring, “We should keep the pressure on ramping up the air campaign [in Syria].”

Newt Gingrich, the former Republican House speaker who appears eager to be Trump’s vice presidential nominee, called for the revival of the House Un-American Activities Committee. From across the aisle, the former Democratic representative from Massachusetts and liberal icon Barney Frank asserted that the Orlando massacre “reinforces the case for significant surveillance by law enforcement of people who have given some indication of adoption of these angry Islamic hate views.”

FBI Pressure To Suppress Allegations About Mateen’s Sexuality?

A closer look at the available information about Mateen's personal history demonstrates a more complex set of possible factors behind his killing rampage. Mateen did not receive training from any Islamic extremist organization, however, he was a longtime employee of G4S, a private security firm and prison provider with a record of human rights abuses that spans across the globe. Mateen's ex-wife, Sitora Yusufiy, has detailed physical and emotional abuse at the killer's hands, referring to him as "disturbed" saying her family had to rescue her in 2009 after he held her "hostage."

At least four Pulse patrons told the Orlando Sentinel they had seen Mateen at the club before on numerous occasions, and Yusufiy has stated that she believes that Mateen was sexually attracted to men. Meanwhile, Mateen's father told NBC that his son become "very angry" after seeing two men kissing.

Shockingly, Yusufiy's current fiance, Marco Dias, told a Brazilian television station that she was asked by the FBI not to reveal Mateen's same-sex attraction "to the American media." If true, the revelation reinforces suspicions that law enforcement is managing the release of information to shape a politically convenient narrative.

"Police release whatever information they choose through official leaks," Jim Naureckas, editor of Extra!, the magazine of Fairness and Accuracy in Reporting, told AlterNet. "The media then treat official information as the gold standard of information. This makes them very dependent because, if reporters don't spin stories the way police want, they can be cut off from unofficial leaks."

"It's not clear why they are releasing the characterization of the 911 call and not releasing the call itself," Naureckas continued. "It seems like an opportunity to pull the strings of media coverage."

I have been looking over the lists of services in various websites and many seem to be excluding or forgetting about the Orlando Youth Alliance. I hope you will include OYA. You may think that Zebra and OYA are the same. We are two separate organizations both offering critical services.

I know our services are needed as an example a dad from South Lake County drove over an hour to bring his 16 year old daughter to OYA this week, because she can't stop crying and is scared to leave the house. This is time for unity. Please help make Orlando United.

Thank you.

At the Orlando Youth Alliance we provide support groups for LGBTQ youth ages 13-24. The topics we normally discuss (bullying, coming out to parents) will now change in the weeks and months ahead. Pulse was a meeting place for our older members. Many celebrated their 18th birthday at Pulse. Some of our members left Pulse just 30 minutes before the shooting. They lost friends. Survivor guilt is real. If you know any LGBT or Allied youth who would benefit from OYA please reach out. Let's help our youth cope and be strong again.

Please share with the community that the Orlando Youth Alliance is offering three, free weekly support groups. The groups currently are being led by a LMHC and offering grief counseling and support for youth ages 13-24 who are dealing with survivor guilt or having a difficult time coming to grips with this tragedy.

Our groups are facilitated by criminally background checked adults and have security or police presence.

It is very disrespectful to display a gay flag at the public buildings. If a Confederate flag is removed than it is only fair the gay flag is also removed. I can not believe you all even did this. The act has never been determined to be an attack on gays. You all just jumped on a media band wagon and that is wrong on all levels. I am not even going to go into the levels of wrong this demonstrates but who ever allowed this has very questionable judgement.

Subject: Westboro Protest

Mister Dyer,

I just read the Westboro Baptist Church is seeking a permit to protest the funerals of the victims from Monday's shooting. I hope and pray that you and your officials see this as another act of hate, just as evil if not more so than the events that took place Monday. Please, protect the families of those mourning. I will put a petition together to have our voices heard. Westboro is just as terroristic as any jihad as they threaten the well-being of Americans, even if it is only those who are in support of the LGBT community. Do not let them protest. Please use your power and influence to protect those poor families who have lost enough already. Protect their right to bury their loved ones with dignity and integrity.

NATO plans for Afghan war through 2020 | 15 June 2016 | The war in Afghanistan -- America's longest conflict -- will grind on for at least another four years as NATO allies are prepared to commit $5 billion through 2020 to train, equip and pay Afghan security forces, according to a senior NATO diplomat. Last week, President Obama granted U.S. troops in Afghanistan expanded authority to attack Taliban insurgents. The new rules allow U.S. forces to advise regular Afghan combat units and to call in airstrikes...The new expanded authorities will give U.S. commanders in Afghanistan more flexibility, by allowing them to identify and get pre-approval for air targets in advance, instead of just responding to emergencies, Gen. Mark Welsh, the Air Force chief of staff, told reporters in Washington.

Second U.S. aircraft carrier enters Mediterranean: U.S. Navy | 14 June 2016 | The U.S. aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower entered the Mediterranean late on Monday, the U.S. Navy said, at a time when U.S. officials are raising alarm over Russia's 'maritime expansion.' The Eisenhower, also known as the "Ike," will relieve the USS Harry S. Truman carrier strike group which later this month heads back to the United States after an extended eight-month deployment. The Eisenhower, which also leads a strike group of cruisers, destroyers and warplanes, is scheduled to continue on to the Gulf to participate in U.S. air strikes on Islamic State targets in Iraq and Syria.

EU extends sanctions on Russia-reunified Crimea until mid-2017 | 17 June 2016 | The European Union extended for a year on Friday a ban on business dealings with the Black Sea peninsula of Crimea, which Russia annexed and reunified from [the US/NATO-backed fascist regime running] Ukraine in 2014 in a move that has not been internationally recognised. The sanctions, now prolonged until June 23, 2017, prohibit imports of products from Crimea, any investment there, cooperation in tourism services as well as exports of some goods and services to the peninsula. The EU is due next week to extend until the end of 2016 its broader economic sanctions on Russia over its role in [stopping] the [US/NATO-engendered] crisis in Ukraine.

Released documents shed light on US CIA's torture programme | 14 June 2016 | United States Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) lawyers sought guarantees the US spy agency would never be prosecuted for torturing suspects after the Sept 11, 2001, attacks, while other staff warned the programme was an impending "train wreck", documents showed on Tuesday (June 15). The correspondence provides a new glimpse into tussles within the CIA as it implemented its notorious "enhanced interrogation" techniques aimed at thwarting further attacks. Fifty documents, released under a freedom of information request from the American Civil Liberties Union, detail the early days of the CIA's use of torture, after then President [sic] George W. Bush directed the agency to detain terror suspects around the world.

[Newly disclosed CDC biolab failures 'like a screenplay for a disaster movie' \[or a bioterror false flag\]](#) | 02 June 2016 | Last month, USA TODAY revealed that a subset of labs at the CDC's Fort Collins, Colo., infectious disease facility are among a handful of labs nationwide that have had their federal permits secretly suspended in recent years for serious safety violations while working with bioterror pathogens. Yet USA TODAY has now learned that CDC kept even Congress in the dark about the Fort Collins incident and some others -- despite an oversight committee asking the agency in 2014 for a list all incidents at CDC labs since 2002 involving bioterror pathogens found in unauthorized areas. The CDC says the information was "inadvertently omitted."

Jo Cox murder: Thomas Mair asked for mental health treatment day before MP died | 17 June 2016 | The man accused of murdering Jo Cox sought help for his mental health problems the night before she was killed - but was told to make an appointment and come back the next day. The disclosure comes as it emerged that Thomas Mair had allegedly bought a number of manuals from an extremist group in the US, which explained how to construct a home-made gun and munitions. There were also reports that police had found 'Nazi regalia' at his home. Mr Mair, 52, visited an alternative therapy centre in Birstall on Wednesday evening, the night before Mrs Cox was killed, where he explained he wanted treatment for depression. The owner of the Birstall Wellbeing Centre told Mr Mair to return the next day for an appointment but he never went back.

Jo Cox MP dead after shooting attack | 16 June 2016 | An MP has died after she was shot and stabbed in a "horrific" assault in her constituency, police have said. Jo Cox, Labour MP for Batley and Spen, was left bleeding on the ground after the attack in Birstall, West Yorkshire. A man was arrested nearby...Vote Leave and Remain have both suspended campaigning in the EU referendum in light of the attack.

Police receive terror alert that ISIS fighters have left Syria and are heading to France and Belgium to stage attacks --Cell 'trying to reach EU by boat via Turkey and Greece without passports' --Brussels shopping mall, U.S. fast-food chain and police could be targets | 15 June 2016 | Police and anti-terrorism investigators have been alerted to the possibility that small groups of ISIS extremists have left Syria for France and Belgium with plans to stage attacks. Belgian intelligence services sent a note to French counterparts about the warning and it was sent to police across France on Tuesday, a French security official said today. Belgium's Derniere Heure tabloid reported that Belgium's anti-terror office warned police that fighters with access to weapons may have left Syria about 10 days ago for Belgium and France. A Brussels shopping mall, an American fast-food chain and police could be among their targets.

Gun Shop Owner: We Called FBI After Mateen Tried to Buy Body Armor, Bulk Ammunition | 16 June 2016 | A co-owner of a Florida gun store revealed Thursday that his employees called the FBI after the Orlando nightclub gunman tried to purchase body armor and bulk ammunition. Robbie Abell, co-owner of Lotus Gunworks in Jensen Beach, Florida, told reporters that Omar Mateen, the gunman who killed 49 people at the gay nightclub Pulse, came into his store about five weeks ago. Abell said that Mateen asked for level 3 body armor, but the store doesn't sell it. He also said Mateen made a phone call and spoke Arabic before asking for bulk ammunition. [Ergo,* the FBI knew. So, why arrest Mateen's wife for not calling the FBI? The FBI was already called. --LRP]

Did a delay in response give the gunman more time? Cops face questions over why it took three hours for SWAT teams to storm Orlando nightclub as police chief admits officers may have shot some of the VICTIMS | 13 June 2016 | Orlando police are facing questions over why it took three hours for a SWAT team to storm the nightclub where ISIS fanatic Omar Mateen slaughtered 49 people. As the largest mass shooting in modern U.S. history began to unfold, an off-duty police officer working at a gay nightclub exchanged gunfire with the suspect. But authorities chose to hold off on letting the tactical units enter Pulse nightclub, where more than 100 people were shot. Police Chief John Mina has also admitted that some of the victims may have been hit by officers' gun fire.

Wife of Orlando shooter may face charges - report | 16 June 2016 | Authorities considering at least 2 charges against wife of Orlando shooter, sources tell ABC News. Noor Salman met the gunman, Omar Mateen online and they were married in 2011. Authorities did not immediately disclose what charges were being considered against Salman.

Federal prosecutors convene grand jury to investigate wife of Orlando massacre gunman, source says | 15 June 2016 | Federal prosecutors have convened a grand jury to investigate the wife of the [alleged] Orlando nightclub shooter, seeking to charge her as an accessory to 49 counts of murder and 53 counts of attempted murder as well as with failure to notify law enforcement about the pending terrorist attack and lying to federal agents, a federal law enforcement source confirmed Tuesday to FoxNews dot com. FBI agents have interviewed Omar Mateen's wife, Noor Salman, in the days since Sunday's massacre that killed 49 and wounded 53 more. A federal law enforcement source additionally told Fox News that Salman knew of her husband's deadly plans and did nothing to stop him.

Orlando shooter was employee of global security firm G4S --Its private clients include Google and J.P. Morgan Chase. | 14 June 2016 | Before Sunday morning, few Americans had heard of Orlando gunman Omar Mateen's British headquartered employer, G4S, the world's largest global security firm, which employs more than 610,000 people in 110 countries. In the United States alone, G4S security guards stand watch over airports, water and power plants, nuclear facilities, immigration transportation and even, as in the case of Mateen, gated communities. Since 2008, G4S Secure Solutions - the company's American subsidiary ' has received nearly 830 million worth of federal, state and local government contracts, including for the Department of Homeland Security, according to the SmartProcure database.

FBI had closely scrutinized the Orlando shooter before dropping investigation | 13 June 2016 | The FBI investigated the Orlando shooter for 10 months beginning in 2013, putting him under surveillance, recording his calls and using confidential informants to gauge whether he had been radicalized after the suspect talked at work about his connections with al-Qaeda and dying as a martyr. As part of the investigation, Omar Mateen, who was killed in a shootout with police on Sunday morning, was placed on a terrorism watch list and interviewed twice before the probe was closed in March 2014 because agents concluded he was not a threat, FBI Director James B. Comey said Monday in an interview with reporters at bureau headquarters. Several months later, in July 2014, Mateen surfaced in another investigation into the first American to die as a suicide bomber in Syria, a fellow Floridian. And, again, investigators moved on. It was the third time -- following the Boston Marathon bombing in 2013 and a planned attack last year on a contest to draw the prophet Muhammad -- that someone who had been scrutinized by the FBI later carried out a terrorist attack.

FBI searching Orlando gunman's computer for digital evidence he scouted Disney World | 13 June 2016 | Investigators from the FBI are searching the electronic devices of the Muslim terrorist who killed at least 49 people in an Orlando nightclub for any direct indications that he planned to target Disney World or nearby Downtown Disney, a law enforcement source close to the investigation told Fox News on Monday. The search for evidence of any plan to target Disney is in addition to scrubbing those devices for communications with any FBI-flagged individuals, domestic or international, the source said. As of Monday, investigators are currently scrubbing the Pulse nightclub gunman's computer for any pictures or videos of Disney World that would suggest Mateen cased the park or its surrounding areas as a potential target, according to the source.

Senators, Trump open to ban on some gun sales after Orlando | 15 June 2016 | U.S. senators signaled on Wednesday a new willingness to consider restrictions on the sale of guns after the Orlando nightclub massacre, with presumptive Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump and others in his party ready to discuss limited gun control measures. With Republicans and the National Rifle Association gun lobby under pressure to respond to the worst mass shooting in modern U.S. history, Trump said he would meet with the NRA to discuss ways to block people on terrorism watch or no-fly lists from buying guns.

Knifeman kills Paris policeman and partner, Islamic State claims responsibility | 13 June 2016 | A knifeman stabbed a French police chief to death in front of his Paris suburb home late on Monday and his partner's body was found inside, officials said, killings the Islamic State's Amaq news agency said were carried out by a "fighter" belonging to the militant group. The unidentified attacker repeatedly knifed the 42-year-old commander in the stomach before barricading himself inside the house, an Interior Ministry spokesman said. He was shot dead by members of an elite police unit after negotiations failed. A judicial source said the anti-terrorism unit of the prosecutor's office had been handed the investigation because of comments made during lengthy exchanges between the assailant and negotiators, but gave no further details.

Paris policeman and wife killed in possible Isis-linked terror attack | 13 June 2016 | A man who claimed allegiance to the Islamic State group stabbed a French policeman to death on Monday night before being killed when police moved in, sources close to the investigation said. The man's wife was also found dead as police stormed the house. Their three-year-old son was rescued alive. French prosecutors have launched an anti-terror probe into the attack in the Paris suburb of Magnanville that was apparently carried out by a neighbour of the family. Witnesses told investigators the attacker may have shouted "Allahu akbar" (God is greatest) as he stabbed the policeman repeatedly outside his home before taking the woman and the couple's three-year-old son hostage inside.

Man rams gate at CIA headquarters, says agency recruited him | 14 June 2016 | Authorities say a Maryland man rammed a gate at the CIA's headquarters in northern Virginia and then told a responding officer that the agency had recruited him. Court documents state that Thomas Luu, who is charged with destruction of property, rammed the padlocked 8-foot chain link gate in a Ford Focus about 2 a.m. Monday, and drove about 75 feet into the compound.

EgyptAir flight MS804: Egypt says it has spotted wreckage of plane | 15 June 2016 | Egyptian investigators say they have found the wreckage of flight MS804, which crashed into the Mediterranean last month with the loss of all 66 people on board. In a statement released late on Wednesday night, the investigation committee said that the John Lethbridge – one of two ships contracted by the Egyptians to hunt for the wreckage – had found "several main locations" on the sea floor between Crete and the Egyptian coast...A second ship, the LaPlace, detected signals from MS804's black box on 1 June, fuelling hopes that investigators will find what caused the plane to crash.

U.S. court backs landmark Obama internet equal-access rules | 14 June 2016 | A U.S. appeals court upheld the Obama administration's landmark rules barring internet service providers from obstructing or slowing down consumer access to web content on Tuesday, dealing a blow to big cable and mobile phone companies. A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, in a 2-1 decision, backed the Federal Communications Commission's so-called net neutrality rules put in place last year to make internet service providers treat all internet traffic equally. The rules prohibited broadband providers from giving or selling access to speedy internet, essentially a "fast lane" on the web's information superhighway, to certain internet services over others.

Wikileaks will publish 'enough evidence' to indict Hillary Clinton, warns Assange | 13 June 2016 | Wikileaks co-founder Julian Assange warns more information will be published about Hillary Clinton, enough to indict her if the US government is courageous enough to do so, in what he predicts will be "a very big year" for the whistleblowing website. "We have emails relating to Hillary Clinton which are pending publication," Assange told Peston on Sunday when asked if more of her leaked electronic communications would be published. About 32,000 emails from her private server have been leaked by Wikileaks so far, but Assange would not confirm the number of emails or when they are expected to be published. Speaking via video link from the Ecuadorian Embassy in London, Assange said that there was enough information in the emails to indict Clinton, but that was unlikely to happen under the current Attorney General, Obama appointee Loretta Lynch.

Hillary Clinton Wins Washington, D.C., Democratic Primary | 14 June 2016 | The Democratic presidential primary officially ended Tuesday night with Hillary Clinton notching a decisive victory in Washington, D.C., capping a race in which she overcame a surprisingly strong challenge from rival Bernie Sanders. With 17% of the votes counted, Mrs. Clinton was proclaimed the winner by the Associated Press with 78.3% of the vote. Washington has only 20 delegates up for grabs.

[Trump revokes Washington Post's campaign press credentials \[It's about time!\]](#) | 13 June 2016 | U.S. Republican Donald Trump said on Monday he will no longer issue press credentials to the Washington Post [the lobbying arm for Amazon, so Jeff Bezos can use more outsourced labor and continue to pay no taxes], stopping the publication from gaining access to press areas at his presidential campaign events. The Washington Post, based in the U.S. capital, is one the country's the most influential newspapers and has one of the largest circulations. "They have no journalistic integrity and write falsely about Mr. Trump," his campaign said in a statement explaining the decision. "Mr. Trump does not mind a bad story, but it has to be honest."

The hottest May in modern history: Earth breaks heat record for 13th month in a row | 16 June 2016 | Earth sizzled to its 13th straight month of record heat in May, but it wasn't quite as much of an over-the-top scorcher as previous months, federal scientists say. Record May heat, from Alaska to India and especially in the oceans, put the global average temperature at 60.17 degrees Fahrenheit (15.65 degrees Celsius), according to NOAA. That's 1.57 degrees (.87 degrees Celsius) above the 20th-century average, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Wildfire in Southern California triples in size | 17 June 2016 | A wildfire in Southern California more than tripled in size overnight and forced officials to close a major highway, while another blaze in New Mexico had communities on edge after destroying two dozen homes, officials said on Friday. California's so-called Sherpa Fire, burning in chaparral and tall grass, was driven by strong winds as it roared down hillsides toward the Pacific Ocean in a wilderness area northwest of the coastal city of Santa Barbara. It grew from 1,200 acres (486 hectares) on Thursday night to more than 4,000 acres (1,619 hectares) early Friday, said Kerry Bierman, a spokeswoman for the joint operations center fighting the fire.

Dear Mayor Dyer

On behalf of the Borough of Milton Keynes in the United Kingdom, we wish to express our condolences to the citizens of your great city after the terrible events of the weekend last. This was not just an attack on innocent individuals, but has torn families apart. We have held our own acts of remembrances this week, with our thoughts and diverse prayers focused on the people affected. We will continue to hold in our hearts those who may just be coming to terms with their grief.

I wish to express our unity with you and the people of Orlando, in particular the brave members of the LGBT community. We add our hands to yours across the world, to defy those who seek to bring hatred with the bonds of hope and resilience. We will continue to think of you in particular, thanking you for your message that you are "not going to stop embracing diversity". This is a message that we echo, and one which will be carried by the many people of Milton Keynes when they visit your wonderful City.

With kind regards,

Steve Coventry
Mayor of Milton Keynes

The Honorable Buddy Dyer
Mayor
City of Orlando
ORLANDO, FLORIDA

Dear Mayor Buddy Dyer,

MESSAGE OF CONDOLENCE UPON THE LOSS OF INNOCENT LIVES IN A TRAGIC SHOOTING IN ORLANDO

---

It is with deep sadness and regret that I learnt of the demise of innocent lives due to a tragic shooting at the Pulse Nightclub in Orlando, Florida on Sunday June 12, 2016.

We strongly condemn such heinous acts and call upon the Community of Nations to unite in rejecting these evil groups, their organizations and, indeed, their ideologies based on death and destruction. Kenya, as a country that has suffered similar cowardly and indiscriminate attacks, stands shoulder-to-shoulder with the City of Orlando.

On behalf of Kenyans in the United States of America, staff of the Kenya Embassy, my family and on my own behalf, I wish to convey sincere condolences to You Honorable Mayor and people of the City of Orlando.

I pray that the Almighty grant you all the fortitude to bear this loss.

May God rest their innocent souls in eternal peace.

Yours Sincerely

AC<sup>2</sup> is an unscripted, unpredictable night of laughs and conversation with Anderson Cooper and Andy Cohen (<http://www.ac2live.com/>). The show has appeared before sell-out crowds in Boston, Chicago, Miami, Washington DC, Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Orange County, Santa Barbara, Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland, Columbus and Atlanta.

Anderson Cooper is the multiple Emmy® Award-winning CNN anchor and correspondent for CBS' 60 Minutes. He reported extensively from Orlando in the wake of the tragedy and looks forward to raising money for the community, and providing a much needed night of laughter, deep talk, and shallow tales.

Andy Cohen is an Emmy® Award-winning host and executive producer of “Watch What Happens Live,” Bravo’s late night, interactive talk show, and is also the executive producer of the wildly popular “Real Housewives” series. Cohen recently spoke at a vigil for the victims of Sunday’s attack in NYC outside the Stonewall Inn.

About the Dr. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts

The Dr. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts is a nonprofit 501 (c)3 organization operating the state-of-the-art performing arts center in downtown Orlando, Florida. With its opening in November 2014, the performing arts center launched its vision of Arts for Every Life by being a gathering place for creativity and discovery; a vibrant urban destination where artists, audiences and students come to experience, explore and learn. The two-block community destination features the 2,700-seat Walt Disney Theater, 300-seat Alexis & Jim Pugh Theater, Seneff Arts Plaza, Dr. Phillips Center Florida Hospital School of the Arts, the DeVos Family Room, and other event rental spaces. Future expansion includes Steinmetz Hall, a 1,700-seat acoustical theater, along with rehearsal, classroom, office space and commercial development spaces. The Dr. Phillips Center is a public-private collaboration with the City of Orlando, Orange County, the State of Florida and generous donors. ## County hires new official

BY: BUSINESS OBSERVER, 6/17

SARASOTA — Sarasota County hired Jonathan Evans as one of three assistant county administrators, effective Aug. 22.

Evans, currently the city manager for Haines City in Polk County, will replace Lee Ann Lowery as an assistant county administrator, a statement says. Lowery is set to retire at the end of September.

Evans' public service career began with the City of St. Cloud, where he served as recreation site supervisor, the statement says.

His other roles include recreation manager for the town of Celebration and assistant to the city manager in Largo.

Evans also teaches public budgeting and finance as an adjunct professor at Polk State College.

CITY OF MENOMINEE, MICHIGAN

“Where the Best of Michigan Begins”

CITY MANAGER

Nestled on 5½ square miles along the shores of Lake Michigan's Green Bay, Menominee, Michigan offers a unique, community atmosphere perfect for raising a family or a vacation visit. Within its Historic Waterfront Downtown District one can enjoy a variety of dining and shopping experiences. The City's full service marina features a beautifully restored historic building with unique amenities for boaters, in a location which is only a few nautical miles from Door County, Wisconsin.

During the summer, concerts in the Great Lakes Memorial Park band shell offer a delightful variety of music. In June, the Menominee Downtown Business Association hosts Family Recreation Day, offering fun for kids of all ages. The first weekend in August brings the annual Waterfront Festival with family activities, music, food, breathtaking fireworks and a parade. Other events including a car show, Christmas parade and the Da Yooper Plunge on New Year's Day, energize Menominee's waterfront downtown. Menominee also has a popular multi-use campground on the Menominee River, beaches and hiking trails all within the City limits. Menominee's schools are excellent, its cost of living is 17% lower than the U.S. average and the local crime rate is appreciably lower than the national average.

The City has a supportive business environment in which companies and entrepreneurs can start or expand their businesses. Menominee continues to develop its infrastructure and maintain its rail, water, air and road assets to encourage business growth. These community efforts provide the foundation for an exciting, prosperous future for both Menominee's 8,599 residents and its visitors. Visit Menominee on the web at: <http://www.menomineemi.us>.

Menominee operates under the Council-Manager form of government. The Council is composed of nine members. Eight members are elected by ward to four-year terms in each of four wards. The Mayor is elected at-large to a four-year term, is a voting member of the Council and presides at Council meetings. The City Manager is hired or removed by a majority vote of the full Council. The Manager is responsible for the efficient and effective implementation of Council goals and policies; serves as the chief administrative officer of the City and as the personnel director; coordinates the official business of the City Council; provides leadership and direction to the organization; responds to requests for information and assistance; serves as a liaison between the City staff and the City Council; and hires department heads subject to confirmation of two-thirds of the council members. Menominee's FY 16-17 budget is $5.8 million. The City employs 57 FTE's.

Requirements include a Master's degree or the equivalent in Public or Business Administration or a closely related field (preferred). Attainment of the ICMA Credentialed Manager designation is also a plus. Experience as a City Manager, Assistant or Deputy City Manager or Department Head in a community where economic development, customer service, high ethical standards and open communications exist and are valued, is strongly desired. An equivalent combination of education and experience which provides the required knowledge, skills and abilities to perform the essential functions of the job will be considered. Residency within the City of Menominee is required.

The starting salary is based on experience and salary history. Benefits are excellent and highly competitive.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR'S CONTRACT DISCUSSED BY COMMISSION

Posted by Byron Spires, Havana Herald, 6/17

Quincy - For nearly an hour the Gadsden County commission discussed what to do about the county administrator and his contract.

The issue was listed on the county's agenda as a "discussion" item and the debate shifted between possibly continuing Robert Presnell's contract or leaving it alone.

Commissioner Anthony Veigbesie stated his position had nothing to do with the current administrator. He explained that he did not want to rush into a contract renewal since Presnell still has five months on the current contract. He wanted to create a succession plan for future reference when deciding on a new administrator.

Currently Presnell's contract will expire on October 31, 2016. The issue with his contract is that assistant county administrator Arthur Lawson will retire in September.

The previous discussions by the board over the past several months have been about the possibility of extending Presnell's contract to allow him to hire a new assistant administrator and train that person to take over as administrator.

In response to that discussion Commissioner Gene Morgan said that right now the important thing to do as a board was to ensure effective leadership at the top with the county administrator. Their other duty, he stated, was to set policy.

The county commission hires the county administrator and the county attorney only. All other hiring is done by the county administrator including the assistant county administrator.

Commissioner Sherrie Taylor praised Presnell for doing a "yeoman's job" with the operations of the county and stating that now they have time to do this right (hiring the administrator).

She suggested that the board consider giving Presnell a two-year contract if he would be willing to stay that long and bring on someone to take the assistant administrator position.

Commissioner Eric Hinson made a motion that they continue the contract as is.

The motion passed with Chairperson Brenda Holt, Veigbesie and Hinson voting for the measure and Morgan and Taylor voting against the measure.

Morgan and Taylor wanted to extend Presnell's contract.

Council offers Stephenson manager's job on trial basis

By Philip Morgan, Tampa Bay Times, 6/17

TEMPLE TERRACE — Townspeople turned out in numbers earlier this month and urged the City Council to give the city manager's job to the town's community development director, Charles W. Stephenson.

It paid off Tuesday night when the council voted 4-1 to offer Stephenson the job under contract for 18 months, after which council members will decide if they want to keep him in the position. Council member Grant Rimbey was the lone "no" vote.

"He doesn't have enough experience, especially at a city manager level," Rimbey said in a later interview.

Rimbey pointed out that Stephenson, who has been interim city manager for a little more than three months, did not have anywhere near the time in the job as the other two candidates, one with 10 years' experience as a county manager and the other with 20 years' experience as a city manager or assistant city manager.

Stephenson, 62, who became a city employee in 2004, has served eight years as the director of the community development department. Before that, he spent eight years as building director for the city of Key West. Before getting into government work, he worked for 20 years in the construction and development industry. He is a 1976 graduate of the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Science degree.

He was appointed interim city manager in March after former city manager Gerald Seeber left early on paid leave pending his official retirement May 1. Stephenson's salary in the interim role is $130,000 per year.

Stephenson made no comment in a news release issued by the city Thursday, but more than three dozen citizens had urged the council to choose Stephenson at a June 1 special council meeting.

"Charles is a bright guy," said Don Statz. "He knows what he's talking about. He knows how to handle people and he's very proactive as well as uses common sense."

Statz credited Stephenson with being the first to alert the City Council that Vlass Temple Terrace LLC, the former developer of the Downtown Temple Terrace project, did not plan to build the apartments according to the city's vision.

"No one really saw through that but him," Statz said.

Former Mayor Joseph Afronti praised Stephenson as someone who knows the city, its shortcomings and its strengths.

"He has worked with our people for many years and will provide stability that is so important when there is a leadership change."

Council member Cheri Donohue, who voted against immediately naming Stephenson city manager during a special meeting June 1, said she decided to vote for him this week after Council member Eddie Vance suggested giving Stephenson an 18-month trial period.

Knowing David Pogorilich and Robert Boss both supported Stephenson and therefore the majority of the council supported him, Donohue said, "if it was going to happen, I wanted to be seen as being supportive."

Donohue said Stephenson's support from city workers is a mixed bag.

"Charles' style is pretty much a 'get 'er done' type of guy. He's going to need to back off that a little bit."

She said he needs to realize, for example, that his department heads know their jobs, and that he does not need to micromanage.

"I don't know that he's started off in that direction," she said.

After a nationwide search by the Mercer Group, a firm the city hired for $14,750, Stephenson was chosen over John Shepherd, township manager for North Huntingdon Township, Pa., and David Lair, county administrator for Geauga County, Ohio.

Council members interviewed the finalists, including Stephenson, via Skype in a workshop prior to the meeting.

2016 Florida Survey Now Available

Florida Water and Wastewater Rate Survey

Raftelis Financial Consultants, Inc. (RFC) has published the 2016 Florida Water and Wastewater Rate Survey. This biennial survey, which has been conducted since 2012, provides insight into water and wastewater pricing practices currently utilized by over 180 utilities in the State of Florida. The respondents include small utilities serving a population of less than 500 to the largest utilities in Florida with service populations of more than 1 million, making the information useful to a wide range of utilities.

The 2016 survey includes information on utilities' monthly water and wastewater charges at 4,000 and 8,000 gallons, minimum bill levels, comparison of average bills between the 2014 and 2016 survey, and other information. Also included in the survey is a table which contains information related to population, water management district, residential monthly minimum bill amounts, and other data for over 180 utilities.

"We found that the utilities we surveyed increased residential water and wastewater bills by 2.5% per year since 2014," said Tony Hairston, Senior Manager with Raftelis Financial Consultants. "Utilities are gradually adjusting rates to keep pace with inflationary and regulatory costs, but also with the need to make reinvestment into aging infrastructure," Hairston continued.

Charter Review Committee recommends cutting restrictions on city debt

By Christopher Guinn, The Ledger, 6/16

LAKELAND — The Charter Review Committee's red pen continued its path through the city's foundational legal document at the advisory group's third meeting.

The word-count cut Wednesday paled in comparison to the one approved at the last meeting, where a massive and outdated legal description of the city's borders was excised.

Wednesday's meeting looked at other issues, such as the prescribed changes to how the city can borrow money has greater potential to make a difference in how the city does business.

But, really, it's not likely, said City Attorney Tim McCausland and Ed Vogel, an attorney with Holland and Knight, the firm that represents the city in bond negotiations. Most of the changes are either covered under superior state laws or represent dealings in a long-past financial sector.

When writing a city charter, the goal should be to write something with staying power, Vogel said.

"What works today might not work 50 years from now," he said.

The group agreed to the majority of the proposed changes, which included removing a 6 percent interest cap on general obligation bonds – a rarely used debt instrument that requires voter approval –and a 30-year term cap on more commonly issued revenue bonds.

General obligation bonds are secured through a city's property, and tax and business earnings. Revenue bonds are secured with a specified income stream, such as rates paid by Lakeland Electric customers.

Municipal voters have consistently rejected general obligation bonds so most cities don't bother with the attempt, Vogel said.

"When you go with a general revenue bond you've sold yourself to the company store," said committee chairman Joe Mawhinney, Lakeland's former city attorney.

As far as removing a cap on interest rates — it might not be prudent to tie commissioners' hands, Vogel said.

Some members questioned the wisdom of removing hard caps from the charter, mainly in an effort to prevent a commission in the future from making questionable decisions.

Committee member Keith Merritt, a former city commissioner, asked whether the caps could be tied to broad financial indexes instead to prevent a future commission from overleveraging the city's finances.

That's a philosophical question, McCausland said. Should hard caps be put in place "or is that better left to the legislative board members of the day?"

"It's also driven to some extent by the market," Vogel added. "People won't buy these bonds unless they think you will pay it back."

On the removal of the 30-year on the length of bonds, committee member Matt Clark, a real estate developer, said he preferred limits, again, as a bulwark against bad decisions.

"Part of the concern about putting some kind of cap ... is straddling taxpayers two or three generations down the road," Clark said. "Is there not some level of reasonableness to keep it in a life cycle of 30 to 40 years instead of a 100-year bond that cripples the city?"

Finance Director Mike Brossart said the governing philosophy on municipal debt is to issue bonds in line with the life of the asset being purchased, whether it be a building or a power plant. That way, the burden is carried by taxpayers all along the life of the asset, rather than those at the front.

As such, it's not unreasonable to imagine an asset lasting longer than 30 years, like some of Lakeland Electric's electricity generating units.

Under the committee's bylaws, two-thirds of the group need to agree to formalize its recommendation. The changes, with the removal of the 30-year cap on revenue bonds, were approved 9 to 3.

The group also recommended removing a requirement to advertise general obligation bonds in the local newspaper — or if there is no newspaper — a newspaper in Florida in a city with populations over 20,000, or a newspaper in New York, Chicago or Toledo.

"Toledo is not a major money market location," Vogel said, "I don't know where these provisions came from."

Records from the last charter review committee from 1975 and 1976 are scant: the primary surviving document is Lakeland's current charter.

The city charter is a document similar to a constitution laying out the powers, responsibilities and structure of the city government. Next year, the Charter Review Committee, appointed by city commissioners, will present an updated charter for the commission's approval.

The commission can then accept, reject or modify the proposal and put it on the next municipal ballot in 2017. Changes to the city charter must be approved by voters.

Hollywood may hike fire fee, freeze positions to balance budget

Susannah Bryan, Sun Sentinel, 6/16

City Hall is staring at a $20 million shortfall next year but has come up with some painful ways to make ends meet.

"The numbers didn't get any better, but I do have good news," City Manager Wazir Ishmael told commissioners Wednesday. "We do have a balanced budget."

Ishmael proposes hiking the fire fee from $209 to $222 to raise $1.6 million. He would cut operating costs citywide and freeze 45 positions to save $7 million.

Ishmael instructed his department heads to cut their budgets by 5 percent to help make up for rising pension and health care costs.

The police department would freeze 11 police positions and 14 civilian positions, Three firefighter positions would be frozen for six months and 31 part-time lifeguard positions would see hours reduced or positions eliminated.

Nine positions in public works and two in code enforcement would also be frozen.

With city elections coming in November, commissioners agreed they are not likely to hike the tax rate, which is already among the highest in Broward County.

Hollywood's base tax rate is $744 per $100,00 in taxable value.

"This is hard to take in," said Commissioner Traci Callari. "I am definitely not in favor of freezing."

Other commissioners also said they opposed freezing positions in public safety.

"God forbid we have a fatality," Commissioner Peter Hernandez said of the plan to cut back on lifeguards. "There goes the savings. I'm concerned about putting the public in peril."

Hollywood contributes $50 million a year to cover pension costs, or more than half of the money it takes in from property taxes, city officials say.

Health care costs will increase by $6.7 million next year, city officials say.

Hollywood is expected to collect an extra $1.9 million in property taxes next year – not nearly enough to cover the shortfall.

Hiking the fire fee will raise another $1.6 million.

Switching to a four-day work week would save a projected $300,000.

Commissioners say they don't want to touch emergency reserves, now at a healthy $31 million.

Under state law, city officials have until the end of September to balance the budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

Two public hearings will be held Sept. 13 and Sept. 26.

FPL customers, backers urge rate increase

BUSINESS By Susan Salisbury, Palm Beach Post, 6/16

WEST PALM BEACH — Florida Power & Light's quality of service, reliability and contributions to the community were lauded Wednesday night by those representing businesses, non-profits and average customers, most of whom said the company deserves the $1.337 billion rate increase it's seeking.

The Florida Public Service Commission hearing held at the Solid Waste Authority of Palm Beach County is the third of nine being held around the state.

The majority of the 50 people who spoke at the podium for three minutes during the three-hour meeting said they were contacted by FPL employees who asked if they would attend the hearing and speak about their experiences with FPL.

About 10 attendees spoke against the the rate increase, including several who said the hearing was "stacked" with people FPL had hand-picked.

Florida Public Counsel J.R. Kelly questioned the speakers about their ties to FPL and whether their company did business with FPL or if FPL donated to their organization, and people began providing the information without being asked.

Sandra Foland, CEO of Baron Sign Manufacturing in Riviera Beach, who said her company is both an FPL vendor and of course, a customer, said FPL has given the firm personalized attention, such as checking voltage on Baron's equipment. The firm also sold FPL a solar sign system.

"If I do not have electricity, then I cannot work," said Foland, who said she is willing to pay more to ensure the best possible service.

Drew Martin, a Lake Worth resident and conservation chair of the Sierra Club's Loxahatchee Group, said he is concerned about FPL's political power.

"I am very unhappy that so many people have been asked to come here by FPL," Martin said, questioning whether the testimony given under oath was really independent.

FPL is seeking a $1.337 billion, four-year base rate increase. If approved by the PSC it would begin in phases starting in 2017.

The total bill for a residential customer who uses 1,000 kilowatt hours a month would jump to $105.45 by June 2019 from $91.84 today.

The base rate portion of the bill would increase almost 24 percent from $57 this year to $70.28 in 2019.

The company is also seeking an overall rate of return on equity midpoint of 11.5 percent. Its current allowable range is 9.5 percent to 11.5 percent.

At the hearing's outset, Kelly said that FPL is a good company, but that's not what the rate case's issues are.

"This case is about FPL proving everything they are asking for is reasonable and prudent," Kelly said.

Schef Wright, an attorney representing the Florida Retail Federation, which opposes the rate increase, said that even without an increase next year, FPL can still make $1.6 billion in profits.

Eric Silagy, FPL's president and CEO, said the company has been investing $3 billion to $4 billion a year in infrastructure to provide more reliable service, while customer bills have decreased 15 percent in the last 10 years.

City to consider ending business tax

Sean Rossman, Tallahassee Democrat, 6/14

The Tallahassee City Commission will discuss whether to revoke the Local Business Tax during this year's budget negotiations.

The tax, a levy paid each year by about 12,000 city businesses when they renew their business tax, generates nearly $2 million each year for the city's General Fund.

The Greater Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce's Business Advocacy Committee voted to ask the city to repeal the tax during its 2016-17 budget negotiations. The committee's chairman, NAI Talcor president Ed Murray, made the recommendation in a June 3 letter to City Manager Rick Fernandez.

Fernandez said city staff is asking the commission to discuss the Chamber's request at its budget workshop on Monday and direct staff to bring back a report at the commission's July 13 budget workshop. If approved, the city would then have to determine budget cuts to account for the lost revenue.

The city's 2016-17 budget proposal said the city's effort to restore capital funding for roads and sidewalks may be affected if the city votes to repeal.

"This $1.9 million tax break for business is an important step for creating a more business-friendly environment in Tallahassee," said Chamber chairwoman Kathy Bell. "The Chamber's mission is to be a catalyst for local business growth, we do that by advocating for policies that create a better business environment."

"We believe that repealing the Local Business Tax does just that. We appreciate the City Manager including our recommendation in his budget proposal for fiscal year 2016-17. We look forward to the City Commission's support of this important tax break for businesses in Tallahassee."

Study targets cutting tourist cars on island

BY Scott Unger, Key West Citizen, 6/15

A new study by the Key West Planning Department is researching ways to reduce the number of tourist cars on the island.

The city has partnered with the University of South Florida's Center for Urban Transportation Research and the Patel College of Global Sustainability to look at various options for cutting down congestion through tourist surveys and research.

USF graduate student Mary Bishop is interning with Sustainability Coordinator Alison Higgins on the study. The pair started with assumptions and data on travel habits and designed the survey around them.

"We had a couple assumptions; one of them was that on your first trip to Key West you rent a car and on subsequent trips you don't," Higgins said. "So how could we reach those people the first time on the island?"

The pair decided to conduct surveys at the one place on the island comprised almost exclusively of tourists, the Southernmost Point.

Armed with free bottles of water, Bishop conducts five minute surveys with visitors at the landmark, asking a variety of questions concerning transportation choices while in Key West.

A Sustainable Tourism major, Bishop will question visitors for six to seven hours a day until she obtains 400 completed surveys, which is the minimum amount needed for statistical significance, she said. Although she declined to speculate on what the survey might reveal, Bishop said one option to help the problem could be a circular trolley, which would travel one simple route and provide passengers with a short wait time.

"People don't like to take public transit if they have to sit around for a half an hour," Bishop said.

Initial research showed many passengers arriving at Key West International Airport didn't rent a car, mostly because they have traveled to the island previously or are visiting relatives here, Higgins said.

A large amount of visitors with personal vehicles fly into Miami or Fort Lauderdale airports and drive down to Key West. The survey will shed light on what those visitors want and what they won't use by asking about various options, both offered and currently unavailable, Higgins said.

"How do we reach that market? Do they know there's a Greyhound and would they even consider the Greyhound? Which some won't," she said. "We are only looking at tourists, those folks who bring their car in and park it and end up not using it for the week."

"Out of these eight choices we give them, whatever is the number one choice is the one we're going to say, hey, there's a market for this."

The pair will also talk to employees at hotels and tourist attractions about an incentive program for tourists, rewarding travelers for leaving their car at home, Higgins said.

"If they came down from Miami they would have some kind of (transportation) receipt...then they'd be eligible for other kinds of perks," she said. "Even if (the hotel) doesn't give a percentage reduction, they can say here's all these attractions that do."

Once the six-week internship is complete, Higgins and Bishop will analyze the data and provide recommendations to city officials by the end of 2016.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Florida-Japan Business Leader:

I am pleased to invite you to this year's 39th Joint Meeting of Japan-U.S. Southeast & Southeast U.S./Japan Associations. This prestigious event will be held in Tokyo this coming September 20-22 at the Imperial Hotel.

*Dave Woodward,
Executive Director,
Florida Delegation,
SEUS/Japan Assoc.*

The relationship between Japan and the Southeast United States has grown steadily since the first meeting took place between the business and government leaders of Japan and our region over 40 years ago. Since that time, more than 1,000 Japanese firms have invested in the Southeast, and in recent years Florida claimed Japan as its largest FDI country with $4.1 billion invested in our state with some 150-170 Japanese firms here, employing some 21,000 Floridians. The ties between Japan and the Southeast U.S. are stronger than ever, truly building on these past three decades of successful partnership.

This year's program will include remarks and presentations by top business and government leaders, representing the most significant aspects of the economic relationship as well as ties of tourism, education, culture and friendship between Japan and the seven Southeast U.S. member states. Additionally, the respective governors of each of the member states, and senior Japanese business and government leaders and special guest speakers are expected to participate. The meeting will provide exciting networking opportunities for all of the 350-400 participating delegates to renew old friendships and establish new ones, including a golf tournament, sightseeing tours, receptions, meals and entertainment. Conference participation is limited to only 70 delegates per state to maximize networking opportunities. This will provide an exclusive opportunity for our delegates to establish business relationships with leading Japanese corporations.

Please join our Florida Secretary of Commerce or other Florida senior official (TBD) as the leader of our Florida Delegation to this year's joint meeting. The participation of leaders like you, will provide significant benefits for our state. I invite you to mark your calendar now and strongly encourage your participation.

I look forward to seeing you in Tokyo this September!

Sincerely,
Dave Woodward
Executive Director
Florida Delegation, SEUS/Japan Association

Spring-Summer 2016 Edition

Early Bird Registration Now Open for 39th Annual SEUS/Japan Joint Meeting in Tokyo

The Florida Secretary of Commerce or other Florida senior official (TBD) will officially lead the Florida Delegation to the 39th Annual Joint Meeting. In addition to the SEUS member state governors/head of delegations, senior officials of Japan and the U.S. are expected to attend, with total attendance projected at approximately 400 participants.

Mr. Tadashi Okamura, Advisor to the Board of Toshiba Corporation, will serve as the meeting's Japan-U.S. Southeast Delegation Leader and Chairman, and will lead the Japan delegation. Mr. O. B. Grayson Hall, Jr., Chairman, President and CEO of Regions Financial Corporation, will serve as the meeting's Southeast U.S.-Japan Associations Delegation private sector co-chairman.

The U.S. Ambassador to Japan, Caroline Kennedy, is expected to once again serve as a keynote speaker this year.

Please see the save the dates announcement on the back and mark your calendar now! Also, "Early Bird" registration is now open through June 30th. Regular registration continues through August 22nd. We encourage you to register now as space is limited. For more details, feel free to contact us at (786) 235-8289 with any questions or visit us online at www.fl-seusjapan.org to view a preliminary announcement brochure in the meantime.

Message From Consul General Okaniwa

The following is a message to our readers from the Consul General of Japan in Miami, the Hon. Ken Okaniwa:

The Honorable Ken Okaniwa, Consul General of Japan, Consulate General of Japan in Miami.

"Arigatou." Six months have passed since my arrival in Florida and how quickly it has been! My time here has been both exciting and rewarding thanks to your warm support. Today I would like to share with you what I have been doing and what I plan to do in the coming months.

Since January, I have visited Jacksonville, Daytona Beach, Orlando (twice), Tampa Bay area (twice), Tallahassee, Pensacola, Melbourne/Space Coast and Miami-Dade/Broward/Palm Beach (numerous times). Through my meetings, I have learned a lot about the situation in various parts of the state and the existing links with Japan. For my part, I explained the state of Japan-Florida relations and made the case for supporting the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP) agreement. I hope you will join me in promoting TPP.

I have covered a lot of ground since I attended the SEUS-Japan joint meeting in Birmingham, Alabama last year. However, since Florida is such a big state, I also felt the need for more interaction even when I cannot physically visit the areas. Therefore, I would like to promote two-way communication to share information about new developments. In this connection, the Consulate has recently established a new Liaison Group of Japanese Companies based in Florida. To the member companies (which now count 23), we started issuing the "Liaison Group News" on a bi-monthly basis. The Consulate will be happy to include any information (in Japanese or English) you want to provide to the member Japanese companies. Such information may be opportunities for business or pleasure, or to entice Japanese people or companies to visit your area.

If you are sending information to share with the Consulate or the Japanese companies based in Florida, please send information to info@mi.mofa.go.jp, with a subject which clearly indicates the purpose of the information provided (e.g. for the Japanese Companies in Florida).

With summer fast approaching, I look forward to seeing you all at the SEUS Joint Meeting in Tokyo in September. For this meeting, I am working with JETRO and others [as well as SEUS/Japan Assoc. and EFI] to organize a session which will bring together those from Japan and Florida in the aeronautic and space industries. I genuinely feel that these industries have a lot of potential for future cooperation. Let me conclude by thanking once again all those who have helped make my work so productive. I look forward to seeing you soon.

Editor's note: The Consul General told us he would welcome input and feedback from our readers via the above e-mail address.

Japan Moves to Lure More Foreign Workers

Prime Minister Abe speaks in Tokyo.

Prime Minister Shinzo Abe's government is easing the path for foreign workers, with new policies that include a pledge to deliver the world's fastest permanent-residency cards for skilled migrants.

A set of immigration measures, including that one, was buried amid dozens of ideas released last week in Mr. Abe's annual list of policy changes. The government also said it planned to bring in more workers for understaffed nursing homes and 2020 Tokyo Olympics construction projects. And it promised to raise the proportion of foreign students in Japan who stay in the country to work after finishing their studies. That figure, which is around 30% according to a labor ministry official, is targeted to rise above 50%.

Mr. Abe's ruling Liberal Democratic Party incorporated the ideas in its platform for parliamentary elections in July. It said a "large increase in foreign workers is anticipated."

The backdrop to the immigration debate is Japan's long struggle to grow consistently, a goal Mr. Abe has been unable to achieve. Part of the problem relates to the workforce, which fell as Japan lost nearly a million people between its 2010 and 2015 censuses.

Japan has long made it relatively difficult for foreigners to get work permits, especially those who lack specific skills. Surrounded by water, the country has generally been able to keep out unwanted migrants.

The program for giving permanent residency to highly skilled professionals began in 2012, and only 4,347 people took advantage of it through the end of 2015, the Ministry of Justice said. "Perhaps Japan isn't attractive enough as a place to live permanently," Mr. Menju said.

But with the native-born population declining, Tokyo increasingly sees the low number of foreign workers as a problem. It has expanded job-matching services for foreign students in Japan, who can work nearly 30 hours a week. That helped raise the number of foreign workers to 907,896 as of last October, a 15% increase over the previous year, according to labor ministry figures.

Mr. Abe's proposal for a Japanese green card--which borrows American terminology for permanent residency--says it would be "the fastest such system in the world." Currently, skilled workers in areas such as engineering or finance must live in Japan for at least five years before applying for permanent residency.

Business leaders such as Takeshi Niinami, chief executive of beer and beverage maker Suntory Holdings Ltd., have called on Mr. Abe to loosen immigration restrictions as a way to jump-start the economy.

"Increasing labor will stimulate demand and combat the labor shortage, which is very acute in this country," Mr. Niinami said in a recent speech.

Consulate General Hosts TPP & Japan Investment Seminars in Miami

The Consulate-General of Japan in Miami organized a seminar for Japanese Companies based in Florida to promote understanding and the potential opportunities of the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP) on Friday, March 18th. While the briefing was conducted in Japanese, there was a Question and Answer session held in English. The event was held at the Consulate.

The Consulate took this opportunity to establish a new Liaison Group of Japanese Companies based in Florida. It is hoped that companies will consider participation in the future similar event.

SEUS/Japan supported and participated in both events.

The Consulate General hosted another seminar held this past June 8th, which focused on US-Japan relations. The Consul General of Japan in Miami, the Hon. Ken Okaniwa, did a presentation on Japan's economy and the TPP. Mr. Norikazu Mori, Chief Executive Director of JETRO Atlanta, spoke about opportunities to invest in Japan.

Japan Hosts G-7 Summit

The G7 leaders, plus the presidents of the European Commission and European Council, kick off the two-day summit.

On May 26 and 27, the leaders of the seven largest developed countries, including President Obama, gathered in Ise-Shima.

Ise-Shima is in Mie Prefecture, a region known for the Grand Shrine of Ise, which dates back around 2,000 years and is commemorates the ancestral deities of the Imperial family.

Sharing fundamental values such as democracy, human rights and rule of law, the G7 continues to play a catalytic role in the world. Chaired by Prime Minister Shinzo Abe, the G7 leaders committed to take actions to deal with important global challenges. The meeting saw progress in areas ranging from the world economy to public health. On the economy, G7 committed to buttress efforts for strong growth through fiscal, monetary and structural measures. They also committed to further boost trade and investment, including through the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP). On TPP, the leaders of Japan and the US agreed to continue efforts for approval from respective legislatures.

On migration and refugees, G7 committed to help meet their immediate and long-term needs. Japan will provide US$6 billion in aid to the Middle East in 2016-2018 to address humanitarian needs as well as the root causes such as poverty, disparity and youth unemployment. Japan will accept up to 150 Syrian students over the next 5 years.

On health, the G7 leaders committed to ensure well-being at all stages and health security for all individuals. Japan has been spearheading international efforts to promote universal health care. Japan will contribute a total of US$ 1.1 billion to international health organizations.

Obama Visits Hiroshima

Obama and Abe laid wreaths at Hiroshima Peace Memorial Park.

President Obama has become the first sitting US President to visit Hiroshima since the WWII nuclear attack. The president spoke to two survivors and in an address called on nations to pursue a world without nuclear weapons.

Mr. Obama first visited the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum before walking to the Peace Memorial Park, accompanied by Prime Minister Shinzo Abe. Both men stood in front of the eternal flame, where they each lay a wreath

Mr. Obama said the memory of Hiroshima must never fade: "It allows us to fight our complacencies, fuels our moral imagination, and allows us to change." Mr. Obama also praised the U.S.-Japan alliance as "one of the strongest in the world."

Hitachi Rail USA Opens Miami Manufacturing Facility

Carlos Gimenez, Mayor of Miami-Dade County, with elected officials, Hitachi executives and City of Medley officials.

Hitachi Rail USA, the American subsidiary of Hitachi Rail, recently announced the completion of a manufacturing facility for Miami-Dade County's Department of Transportation and Public Works' new Metrorail vehicles.

The 140,400 square-foot plant, located in Medley, FL., will manufacture 136 cars and 272 motor bogies (it is the structural subassembly which is accommodating wheels, axles, motor and gear box) needed to replace the County's Metrorail fleet. The Miami-Dade Department of Transportation and Public Works contracted the production to Hitachi Rail. The plant was completed in approximately six months and received the Certificate of Occupancy the first week of January 2016. The assembly of the Metrorail vehicles began in March, and the first completed vehicles will begin the qualification-testing phase by the end of the year. The first new Metrorail vehicles will be put into service in late 2017, after completing the testing phase. The production of the new Metrorail vehicles will last until the first half of 2019.

"This is the first facility that Hitachi Rail is opening in the United States, and we're excited that the company has chosen to invest in our world-class community," said

Miami-Dade County Mayor Carlos Gimenez. "The opening of this production facility is projected to create 100 jobs in Miami-Dade County and many local sub-contracts. We look forward to working with Hitachi to put our residents to work, further diversify our economy, and deliver cleaner, safer, more reliable and convenient mobility options to our 2.6 million residents."

"The production system that has been prepared for Miami allows us to achieve high performance and build modern vehicles that meet the needs of the transportation fleet for Miami-Dade County," said Kentaro Masai, COO of Hitachi Rail, "Our primary goal is to ensure a quality product in a timely fashion." "Hitachi Rail has a great history in the United States and this project marks the beginning of the new direction under the management of the Hitachi Group."

Marlins Pay Tribute to Miami's Japanese Community & Ichiro

The Consul General of Japan in Miami, Ken Okaniwa, warmed up his pitching arm near home plate at Marlins Park. Okaniwa prepared to start off the Miami Marlins versus the Washington Nationals game by throwing out the first pitch Sunday in celebration of Japanese Heritage Day.

More than 400 Japanese fans turned out to Little Havana's Marlins Park to celebrate their country's heritage and honor their country's baseball hero, Ichiro Suzuki, who started in left field and has been on a tear at the plate.

For Hirokuni Hibi, who is a part of Miami Hoshuko Japanese School, a school devoted to teach classes in Japanese for children located in West Miami-Dade, it brings comfort.

"It's a great feeling because it makes us feel like we are a part of the community," he said. "Although we are a minority in Miami, but still having all of us Japanese watching the Marlins game is great. We feel a part of Miami."

The Miami Marlins donated more than $2,000 to the school.

"We appreciate the donation," he said. About 50 students from the school were present. At the game, some of those from the Land of the Rising Sun wore traditional kimonos and nostalgia for the Oendan, which roughly translates to cheering section in Japanese. There are about 9,000 Japanese living in Florida, Okaniwa said.

The Fushu Daiko, Japanese Taiko Drumming, also provided entertainment between innings.

In honor of Suzuki, who is in search of 3,000 hits in Major League Baseball, the Marlins gave away Suzuki bobbleheads to fans, who held the giveaways up high when he batted.

"He is a great player," Okaniwa said. "I hope Japanese and people who like Japan can continue getting together to support their local team."

Florida Statewide Japanese Speech Contest Winner

Editor's note: The following was contributed by Ms. Gigi Ross, sharing her experience in Wakayama Prefecture, which donated the trip to the winner of the Florida Statewide Speech Contest, held in conjunction with the 12th Annual Florida-Japan Summit last September: "This past January, as grand prize winner of the Florida Statewide Japanese Speech Contest, I had the privilege of visiting Wakayama Prefecture in Japan for the second time.

Wakayama has a sister state relationship with Florida and is well known for its delicious citrus fruit, much like we are. However, the most amazing thing about Wakayama is its beautiful nature and World Heritage Sites, and the warm hearted Japanese people who live there, both of which I discussed in my speech.

During my first trip, which was a two week study abroad program, I only caught a glimpse of Wakayama's beauty, but during my trip this year, I was able to tour most of the prefecture. I was astonished by new sights, such as Kumano Nachi Taisha, which is a gorgeous blend of Buddhism and Shintoism located at Japan's tallest waterfall high in the mountains. I enjoyed relaxing in a nearby hot spring (onsen) at Hotel Urashima, which was built into a cave on the ocean. I felt nostalgic and peaceful when I returned to Mount Koya and stayed in a Buddhist temple overnight, which was the most memorable experience that I had during my first trip to Wakayama.

However, what moved me even more than Wakayama's nature was the kindhearted-ness of the people who call that prefecture home. I was received warmly by everyone, including Governor Yoshinobu Nisaka himself. I enjoyed parties thrown in my honor by the Wakayama-Florida Friendship Association, I was welcomed to speak by Shingu High School, and I also had the delight of being reunited with my old professors and friends at Wakayama University. One thing that pleased me the most was that everyone believed in my Japanese language skills and encouraged me to speak Japanese with them. I was surprised how much my skills improved when I became confident in myself.

During this visit, I realized that I hope to one day call Wakayama my home, too. In order to accomplish my goal, I plan on applying for the JET Program later this year, so that I can teach abroad in 2017. Even if I am not placed in Wakayama, I believe that JET will give me a great start to a new life in Japan. Until then, I am participating in the Disney College Program in Orlando, FL, where I have befriended Japanese cast members and use my language skills to help the Japanese guests who come to visit Walt Disney World."

Dear Mayor Dyer,

You and the community are in our thoughts and prayers given the recent tragedy in Orlando. I want you to know we started Monday Night RAW last week with all of our Superstars on stage for a moment of silence, and our Chairman, myself, my husband and various WWE Superstars have been sharing messages of solace via social media.

We are already brainstorming ideas to help raise money for the OneOrlando fund and I wanted to know if there was more we could be doing. With our Performance Center, our 3rd brand NXT, and WrestleMania being headquartered in Orlando; we feel Orlando is a second home. We want to do everything we can to help support you and your efforts to rebuild the constitution of your great city.

Please let me know how we can help,

Steph

The Honorable Buddy Dyer
Mayor of Orlando

Dear Mayor Dyer,

I am deeply saddened by the outrageous terror attack that claimed lives of innocent people in Orlando, Fl.

I am deeply shocked by such an appalling act of violence in the time of peace, neglecting humanity and common sense, and attacking the freedom and values of each and every American citizen.

This tragedy indicates that the global community is facing growing challenge of an unparalleled scale that requires taking action on it and holding responsibility for it.

On behalf of the Embassy of Georgia, I extend my wholehearted condolences to the families of the victims, the US Government as well as to each individual who cherishes human life and freedom. Our thoughts are with you in this painful time.

Respectfully,

Archil Gegeshidze
Ambassador

Ms. Belinda Bly,
Team Leader
Office of Public Housing Investments
US Dept of Housing and Urban Development
451 7th Street SW, Room 4130
Washington, DC 20410

Dear Ms. Bly:

The City of Orlando/Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) is committed to increasing the availability of affordable housing, both through rental and homeownership and respects the Orlando Housing Authority as a steward for developing and maintaining high quality affordable housing for residents of Orlando.

The City/CRA understands that quality housing is vital to the sustainability of the Parramore community and the lives of its residents - present and future. The Carver Park HOPE VI development, featuring The Villas at Carver Park and The Landings at Carver Park has dramatically transformed a once blighted section of the city into a vibrant, attractive place for families to live and thrive. The final homeownership phase will further anchor the community and spur further investment in the area.

Currently under construction, the Pre-K – 8th Orange County Public School will be a community resource and institutional amenity which further enhances Parramore as a redeveloping community primed for homeownership.

As part of this effort, the City/CRA is committed to working in partnership with OHA, other organizations, and the residents of Parramore, to assure an improved quality of life, to promote safe, comfortable, and affordable housing that meets the needs of the community; and to promote vibrant, balanced, and sustainable neighborhoods that meet the diverse needs of our citizens.

The City/CRA is a long time partner with the Housing Authority of the City of Orlando and looks forward to working together on this worthwhile project. If you require further information, please contact Oren Henry, Director of Housing & Community Development at 407-246-2328 or by email at Oren.Henry@cityoforlando.net.

Respectfully,

Thomas C. Chatmon, Jr.
Executive Director

EMBASSY OF THE REPUBLIC OF SERBIA
AMBASSADOR

June 16, 2016

Dear Mr. Dyer,

On behalf of the Republic of Serbia and on my own behalf I wish to offer most heartfelt condolences to you and to the families of victims killed in a deadly shooting that took place over the weekend in Orlando, Florida.

The Republic of Serbia condemns in strongest possible terms this senseless act of violence and terror that left so many families in mourning.

At these difficult and painful times, I wish to convey to you a message of genuine solidarity and support of the people of Serbia.

Sincerely,

Your Worship Mayor Buddy Dyer,
City of Orlando,
P.O Box 4990,
Orlando, Florida 32802-4990

Worship The Mayor,

It is with deep regrets and sorrow that we learnt the sudden demise of the 49 people and a large number of casualties following the terror attacks on the Pulse night Club in your City on Sunday, June 12, 2016. Such inhumane and despicable terrorist act could never be justified by any reason, and we strongly condemn such terrorist acts.

As the representative of the Government of the United Republic of Tanzania and the people, I sincerely express my deepest condolences to the families of all the victims for the loss of their loved ones and heartfelt sympathy and wishing quick recovery to those who were injured in the attacks. Our thoughts and prayers are with you and the families of the victims during difficult times.

May the Almighty God rest the departed souls in eternal peace.

Sincerely,

TO: All Employees
SUBJECT: Update Mass Shooting Incident
DATE: June 17, 2016, 3 p.m.

As the week of healing continues, I would like to share a few updates with you as the healing process continues for all of us.

Our employee whose daughter was injured during the event remains stable and recovering.

The current detours along Orange Avenue between Michigan and Gore Streets remain in effect. Links 7, 11, 18 and 40. There is no indication as to when the road will fully reopen. Transportation Supervisors and the Planning Department will remain out in the field managing detours, assisting operators and customers. We are still experiencing delays on these routes and Link 3.

This weekend we will be providing complimentary shuttle service to a Sunday vigil at Lake Eola. The shuttle lots will be located at the West Oaks Mall, Valencia College East and Osceola County Administration parking garage. Both LYMMO Orange lines and Grapefruit will extend service until midnight.

On Saturday there will be a memorial service for the victims and families at the Cathedral Church of Saint Lucas on Magnolia Avenue. We are anticipating delays on Links 3, 7, 11, 13, 15, 18, 51, LYMMO Orange-North Quarter, 104, 125 and 313.

The City of Orlando's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) intends to remain open through Sunday. We will let you know if this changes.

Shuttles continue to operate between OIA, the Family Assistance Center and the Hampton Hotel near ORMC. We have bilingual customer service representatives and safety staff at the family assistance center providing bus passes and travel information.

The bus wrap our Marketing designed is receiving plenty of attention and serving as a healing element unifying the community. Our body shop did a remarkable job working through the night printing and installing so this would be ready for the president's arrival.

We have set up www.golynx.com/lynxcare for those wishing to donate to the OneOrlando Fund through PayPal. For those who would like to contribute cash or check please see Vicki Hoffman (LCS), Chitrekha Etwaroo (LOC) or Pedro Jimenez (OSF). All donations to the fund will be sent as a Team LYNX contribution.

Again, I would like to extend a special thank you to the LYNX family for going above and beyond ensuring we assist the community in moving forward during this tough time.

And to all of the father's reading this, Happy Father's Day.

MEMO FROM THE DESK OF...

Edward L. Johnson
Chief Executive Officer

TO: All Employees
SUBJECT: Update Mass Shooting Incident
DATE: June 15, 2016, 2 p.m.

I want to take a moment and say thank you to each and every one of you for pulling together and showing the community how we are ready, willing and able to respond.

The status of our employee's daughter who was injured during the event is that she is stable and recovering. I know we all wish her well.

The current detours along Orange Avenue between Michigan and Gore Streets remain in effect. Links 7, 11, 18 and 40 impacted by the detour are experiencing some delays during peak hours. Also, the Link 3 that operates along Delaney Avenue is experiencing 7-10 minute delays as well.

We have deployed additional staff from Transportation Supervision and the Planning Department to help manage the detours, assisting operators and customers to better understand and navigate the rerouting. As law enforcement's investigations continue we may task other team members to assist with staffing detour points.

The City of Orlando's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) continues to remain open and we have it staffed to support transportation needs for the victims and their families. There have been several requests for buses during the past four days to move large numbers of people.

Currently we are operating four vans to transfer victims and family members between the Beardall Senior Center and Camping World Stadium to receive immediate aid ranging from documentation support to legal aid through the Family Assistance Center. We have bilingual customer service representatives and safety staff at the family assistance center providing bus passes and travel information.

Our Marketing team has designed a bus wrap in honor of this tragic event. The wrap as pictured below shows the blue background of hope, a pulse flowing to the iconic heart of Orlando, a special rainbow colored Lake Eola fountain. Flying throughout the design you will see doves holding hearts or acacia leaves honoring the 49 people murdered. The body shop has worked through the night to print and wrap the bus.

As Mayor Buddy Dyer has pushed the community to provide any support possible, I have asked Tiffany Homler and Donna Tefertiller to organize a team including Finance to collect funds so we as a LYNX family can provide to OneOrlando Fund administered by the Central Florida Foundation.

TO: All Employees

SUBJECT: 2nd MEMO Mass Shooting Incident

DATE: June 12, 2016, 8 p.m.

We have finalized our adjusted service plan for Links 7, 11, 18 and 40. Beginning Monday morning, until further notice, these four routes will use Gore Street, Division Avenue and Michigan Street. There will not be service along Orange Avenue between Kaley and Michigan streets or on Columbia Street, Sligh Boulevard and Lucerne Terrace.

Also, Link 3 which runs along Delaney Avenue is operating its regular route, walking distance from many of the side streets connecting to Orange Avenue.

Customer Amenities has added temporary stops on Michigan Street at Taylor Ave. near McCoy Federal Credit Union in Sodo and South Orange Avenue at West Pineloch Avenue. The stop on South Orange Avenue at Walmart and PNC Bank will be temporarily closed.

Right now our designer is drawing up maps to show the temporary routing. This will be shared once completed with you, on our website and social media channels.

Our customer service team has been briefed on these changes and are ready to assist customers should they have any questions. LYNX supervisors will be in the field assisting customers along these routes. Additional buses will be available so we are able to minimize delays.

Safety is in routine contact with the City of Orlando's EOC ensuring we are sharing the latest information. Government Relations is keeping elected officials up to speed on our service levels. The LYNX communications team is in contact with the media to help us publicly spread our plan.

As I stated earlier, since the Governor has placed Orange County in a state of emergency we will need to keep accurate records of time and equipment being used in our assistance. Finance will provide us with the appropriate paperwork for proper record keeping.

At this time we do not have an update on the employee whose family member was injured during this incident. We will share the status as it becomes available to us. Please keep the family member and our employee in your thoughts and prayers.

Please do not forget to notify your immediate supervisor of any suspicious acts.

Stay safe.

SUBJECT: 2nd MEMO Mass Shooting Incident

DATE: June 12, 2016, 4 p.m.

We were notified earlier law enforcement believes their investigation may continue through tomorrow. With tomorrow being a weekday this will impact our services for Links 7, 11, 18 and 40 along Orange Avenue between Kaley and Grant streets. The Transportation Division will coordinate detours for these four routes in line with the City of Orlando's rerouting of traffic.

We may have to use additional buses to maintain scheduled services.

Currently, at the request of Family Services we have deployed four vehicles to relocate victims and family members from the downtown Hampton Inn to the Beardall Senior Center. Since the Governor has placed Orange County in a state of emergency we will need to keep accurate records of time and equipment being used in our assistance. Finance will provide us with the appropriate paperwork for proper record keeping.

Additionally, we have learned one of our employees had a family member injured during this incident. The family member is currently in surgery, however, at this time we do not have any more information on their status. Please keep the family member and our employee in your thoughts and prayers.

Please remain vigilant in your work areas. Please notify your immediate supervisor of any suspicious acts.

TO: All Employees
SUBJECT: Mass Shooting Incident
DATE: June 12, 2016

Earlier this morning our community was impacted by a tragic incident resulting in at least fifty people losing their lives and many more hospitalized. We are all shocked and saddened by this and are prepared to do what we can in assisting local emergency response teams and the community as a whole work through this matter.

Staff is being deployed to the City's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) to assist in any coordinated transportation effort that may be needed. Also, we are encouraged to go to a nearby blood bank to donate blood. This will help in the care of those who were injured and are still hospitalized. I am certain they are in need of all blood types. So, please heed to this request.

We do understand this incident will have an impact on our local services that serve the Orange Avenue corridor. The Transportation Department is rerouting services while law enforcement conducts their investigation. These detours will be in effect until we have been given an all clear.

In closing, please let your immediate supervisor know if you have been impacted by this incident. Through our healthcare plan there are several resources you can access.

As more information is made available we will share with you.

SUBJECT: Update Mass Shooting Incident
DATE: June 17, 2016, 3 p.m.

As the week of healing continues, I would like to share a few updates with you as the healing process continues for all of us.

Our employee whose daughter was injured during the event remains stable and recovering.

The current detours along Orange Avenue between Michigan and Gore Streets remain in effect. Links 7, 11, 18 and 40. There is no indication as to when the road will fully reopen. Transportation Supervisors and the Planning Department will remain out in the field managing detours, assisting operators and customers. We are still experiencing delays on these routes and Link 3.

This weekend we will be providing complimentary shuttle service to a Sunday vigil at Lake Eola. The shuttle lots will be located at the West Oaks Mall, Valencia College East and Osceola County Administration parking garage. Both LYMMO Orange lines and Grapefruit will extend service until midnight.

On Saturday there will be a memorial service for the victims and families at the Cathedral Church of Saint Lucas on Magnolia Avenue. We are anticipating delays on Links 3, 7, 11, 13, 15, 18, 51, LYMMO Orange-North Quarter, 104, 125 and 313.

The City of Orlando's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) intends to remain open through Sunday. We will let you know if this changes.

Shuttles continue to operate between OIA, the Family Assistance Center and the Hampton Hotel near ORMC. We have bilingual customer service representatives and safety staff at the family assistance center providing bus passes and travel information.

The bus wrap our Marketing designed is receiving plenty of attention and serving as a healing element unifying the community. Our body shop did a remarkable job working through the night printing and installing so this would be ready for the president's arrival.

We have set up www.golynx.com/lynxcare for those wishing to donate to the OneOrlando Fund through PayPal. For those who would like to contribute cash or check please see Vicki Hoffman (LCS), Chitrekha Etwaroo (LOC) or Pedro Jimenez (OSF). All donations to the fund will be sent as a Team LYNX contribution.

Again, I would like to extend a special thank you to the LYNX family for going above and beyond ensuring we assist the community in moving forward during this tough time.

And to all of the father's reading this, Happy Father's Day.

OneOrlando funds to be sent directly to victims

By Paul Brinkmann Staff Writer

The City of Orlando is reorganizing how it will distribute $6.8 million received or pledged already to help victims of the Pulse nightclub shooting — just days after launching the fund.

The OneOrlando fund, which has received funding from major sports teams, the Walt Disney Co., airlines and the city, will be reorganized to send money directly to victims and their families.

That's a marked shift in what the city announced Tuesday, which was a mission to provide funding to nonprofits in the community, which would then distribute money.

The shift comes on the heels of a scathing press release issued Thursday attributed to parents and family of victims from mass shootings in Sandy Hook, Boston, Colorado and other places. The statement said victims in those locations received little money from “community-based” funds that attempt to distribute money only to other not-for-profits.

“We have seen this go on for 17 years since Columbine, and we are trying to prevent what happened to us from happening to our Orlando family,” said Anita Bush, whose cousin, Micayla Medek, was among the 12 people killed in Aurora, Colo.

Heather Fagan, spokeswoman for the city, said Thursday the city was still developing a new plan. But she said city officials have recognized that Pulse shooting victims need help fast.

“We do recognize that there's a need to give directly to victims,” Fagan said.

The statement from the other mass shooting victims also criticized Disney for not doing more homework on such funds.

A spokeswoman for Disney declined to comment for this story.

The Pulse shooting — the largest mass shooting in U.S. history — claimed the lives of 49 people at the Orlando nightclub on Sunday morning; 53 more were injured.

OneOrlando.org attracted large corporate pledges and donations such as Disney and Universal at $1 million each. But large amounts are also flowing to not-for-profit groups that support the gay community.

On Thursday, the largest GoFundMe page for the Pulse nightclub shooting neared $5 million, breaking records. All totaled, the website now lists 300 campaigns for Pulse shooting victims and families of victims that passed $5.35 million by Thursday.

The second largest fund, set up by The GLBT Center, was at $386,238 on Thursday.

TO: ALL 2016 NATIONAL EDUCATION PATHWAYS WITH A PURPOSE AWARD-WINNING MAYORS ATTENDING THE USCM ANNUAL MEETING IN INDIANAPOLIS

FROM: KATHLEEN WIGGINS, ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR U.S. CONFERENCE OF MAYORS

DATE: JUNE 17, 2016

RE: NATIONAL EDUCATION PATHWAYS WITH A PURPOSE AWARDS BREAKFAST AND OPPORTUNITIES

I would like to congratulate you again on your commitment to college and career readiness and outstanding leadership in advancing both college and career readiness in your cities. On behalf of USA Funds and The U.S. Conference of Mayors, we are so pleased that you are being recognized with a National Education Pathways with a Purpose Award.

The Awards will be formally presented at the 84th Annual Conference of Mayors in Indianapolis on Sunday, June 26, at the Mayors and Business Leaders Plenary Breakfast from 7:30-9:00 a.m. in the White River Ballroom E-F, 1st Level at the J.W. Marriott Hotel. We have planned the following and hope that your schedule will accommodate it.

Sunday, June 26, 2016

I. Photo Opportunity for Mayors Receiving National Education Pathways with a Purpose Award

We have made arrangements to ensure that a quality photo of each mayor receiving an oversized check will be taken with Carol D'Amico, Executive Vice President of National Engagement and Philanthropy for USA Funds. She will be in Indianapolis to meet each of you personally and congratulate you, as well as present the check award to you at the plenary breakfast. We will ensure that these photos are sent to your office. If you have a specific press contact you would like these photos directed to, please let us know.

The general time of this session will be during the Mayors and Business Leaders Plenary Breakfast from 7:30 a.m. - 9:00 a.m. on Sunday, June 26, in the J.W. Marriott Hotel. Each mayor will be called on stage to accept the award and pose for the photo session.

If for some reason, you will not be able to attend the awards ceremony, please let me know as soon as possible by contacting me via email at kwiggins@usmayors.org or telephone at 202/861-6723. My cell phone is (202) 341-3006 if you need to reach me during the meeting or on the day of the awards ceremony.

All mayors will receive their awards at the Mayors and Business Leaders Plenary Breakfast.

II. Schedule for the Awards Breakfast

A. Seating Arrangement for the Breakfast

- All Award-winning Mayors' and guests will be at reserved tables at the front of the Ballroom, near the head tables. The tables will be marked with "Reserved" signs. Please look for those tables and seat yourselves at the front of the room. Several senior representatives from USA Funds will also join you at the reserved tables.
- Each Mayor and one guest are invited to attend the Awards breakfast. Please email me at kwiggins@usmayors.org the name of the designated representative attending if the mayor is not able to be there to accept the award. Please send this information as soon as possible so we can make sure everyone is registered.

B. Flow of the Breakfast, 7:30-9:00 a.m., Sunday, June 26

1. After brief opening remarks from Oklahoma City Mayor Mick Cornett, Vice President of the Conference of Mayors, the Plenary Breakfast will begin. Mayor Cornett will preside over the Plenary Breakfast.
2. Mayor Cornett will introduce Nathan Gatten, Head of Global and Government Relations at JPMorgan Chase, sponsor of the Plenary Breakfast.
3. Following the brief sponsor remarks, Mayor Cornett will call upon USCM CEO & Executive Director Tom Cochran to speak. Following Tom, Mayor Cornett will call upon Doug Palmer, Director of Urban Development and Governmental Affairs at Arete and Jean Cantrell, Vice President of State & Local Government Relations at Philips Lighting, co-chairs of the Mayors Business Council Steering Committee, for brief remarks.
4. Mayor Cornett will turn it over to Carol D'Amico, Executive Vice President of National Engagement and Philanthropy for USA Funds, who will announce the award winners.
5. Next, Carol D'Amico will begin the presentation of the USCM/USA Funds 2016 National Education Pathways with a Purpose Grant Awards.
6. Carol will first announce the small city winner, Hartford Mayor Luke Bronin for the Hartford Coalition on Education and Talent. Mayor Bronin will accept the check onstage with Mayor Cornett, USA Funds representative Carol D'Amico, and USCM CEO and Executive Director Tom Cochran and pose for a photo op.
7. Carol will next announce the medium city winner, Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer for Mayor Dyer's Children Initiative. Mayor Dyer will accept the check onstage with Mayor Cornett, USA Funds representative Carol D'Amico, and USCM CEO and Executive Director Tom Cochran and pose for a photo op.

8. Finally, Carol will announce the large city winner, Louisville Mayor Greg Fischer for the Cradle to Career Initiative. Mayor Fischer will accept the check onstage with Mayor Cornett, USA Funds representative Carol D'Amico, and USCM CEO and Executive Director Tom Cochran and pose for a photo op.
9. Carol will then turn it over to Mayor Cornett who will conclude the awards portion of the program and begin the Closing the Opportunity Divide: Transforming Low-Income Young Adults Into Rising Tech Stars panel.

III. Registration

Everyone who plans to attend the presentation of the National Education Pathways with a Purpose Awards at the Business Council Plenary Breakfast must be registered. Attending the breakfast is free. To register, please contact me as soon as possible.

V. City Check Re-Presentation

A representative from USA Funds as well as one from The U.S. Conference of Mayors will also travel to each of your cities for a local event/check re-presentation if you so desire. Please contact Megan Cardiff at 202-861-6735 or mcardiff@usmayors.org with multiple dates and event options so that USCM and USA Funds representatives can plan accordingly.

VI. Press Release

USCM staff will prepare a press release on the USCM/USA Funds 2016 National Education Pathways with a Purpose Grant Program award winners, which will be distributed to press the day of the awards presentation. Please direct any and all press inquiries to Sara Durr. She can be reached via email at sara@durrcommunications.com.

VII. Summary

I will be available at the meeting to answer any questions or to provide any information you need. I will generally be around at all times during the meetings and social events and any staff person of USCM can identify or find me for you. I can be reached by email or cell phone at 202/341-3006 with any questions or concerns.

Again, congratulations and I look forward to seeing all of you in Indianapolis.
